Third Term? Locke Hasn't Decided Yet

Mayor Tells Committee He's Not Ready to Make Statement.

Republican leaders were still in the dark today about their candidate for mayor of Mansfield next fall although they tried hard to learn something definite about candidates' intentions at a "harmony" session last night.

The G. O. P. executive committee, however, endorsed Paul Ritchie, Empire Sheet and Tin Plate company foreman, for the municipal court clerk's post, and Jack Berger, Richland County Automobile club secretary-manager, as Mansfield deputy registrar of motor vehicles.

The executive committee held a dinner meeting at the Happy Harry dining room, but committeemen didn't get an answer to the question that's most important to them now—Is Mayor W. J. Locke going to seek a third term?

The mayor spoke to the committeemen briefly when called upon along with the other Republican city officials, but he said only that he was "not ready to make a definite statement yet."

Committeemen quoted Mayor Locke as saying that if the committee had any particular desires in the selection of a slate of candidates he would try to comply with them.

Councilman George C. Kyle, mentioned as a possible mayoralty candidate, left the session after dinner to attend a first aid class and was not called on to tell what he plans to do.

Kyle told the News-Journal today, however, that he didn't want to make any statement now because he thought it was still too early.

"Too many things can happen in the next six or eight weeks for me to say anything now," C. M. Crafton, former service-safety director and the third G. O. P. mayoralty candidate possibility, said today. Crafton was not at last night's meeting.

Both Kyle and Crafton are known to be interested in the mayor's office, but they are waiting to see how the field lines up, party leaders believe.

Only one of the present G. O. P. office holders who expressed his intention to run again next fall was Councilman James Anderson.

In endorsing Ritchie for the clerk's post to be vacated by Ralph Hughes, the committee followed the desires of Municipal Judge H. H. Schettler who will make the appointment. Ritchie, active in the Moose lodge, has been at the Empire Sheet and Tin Plate plant for more than 20 years. Hughes will be the new common pleas court bailiff.

NICE OUT, EH?

It'll Get Colder; Weatherman Doesn't Say How Much.

Balmy spring-like weather reminded Richland countians today that marble time is not far away, but the weatherman warned them that more cold weather is on its way.

Just "how cold" the "colder tonight" will be was not predicted.

Following a thunder storm and hard rain in the early morning hours, the mercury shot upward to reach a noon time reading of 43. Rainfall totaled .26 inch.

Galoshes and topcoats were missing today as youngsters dragged out last year's roller skates and baseball equipment to welcome the spring that is not due to arrive "officially" for more than a month.

Model Tortured to Death?

Chicago police, pushing their investigation into the mysterious slaying of Estelle Carey, 34-year-old model and former sweetheart of Nick Dean, notorious racketeer, theorized she may have been tortured to death by former gangland cohorts of Dean, seeking to gain control of his rumored fortune. Dean, shown left below, was said to have entrusted a reported sizeable fortune to Miss Carey before he was taken to prison for his part in the extortion of more than $1,000,000 from motion picture executives. Among those questioned in the killing was Lawrence Mangano, right below, former Capone gangster and friend of Dean.

SIGNS BILL TO HIKE CITY PAY

Mayor Approves Ordinance, Raises Take Effect on Mid-February Checks.

City council's salary ordinance giving city employes pay increases totaling approximately $25,000 annually today bore the signature of Mayor William J. Locke, making the pay boosts effective on mid-February pay checks.

Subject of much wrangling and Locke-inspired changes in figures, the ordinance was finally passed with only changes made in the original draft of Councilman Fred Miller, salary committee chairman, and his committee. Miller called the revisions "petty". They totaled only $70 more than the total annual increase figure in Miller's ordinance.

Another city salary question comes up before council at its next meeting. The legislation was not acted upon last Tuesday night owing to the volume of business before council.

It provides for increases in the pay of city officials elected this fall and assuming office next January. The measure would increase the mayor's salary rom $4,000 to 4,500; that of city auditor from $2,700 to 3,000; city solicitor from $2,400 to $2,500.

Another ordinance would fix the pay of councilmen at $250 annually. Councilmen have been receiving that amount but the new ordinance was drafted to take precedence over an ordinance now on the books but never enforced by which councilmen could be paid as much as $300 yearly.

Robbery Seen as Motive In 'Dice Queen' Torture

CHICAGO—(INS)—Murder by a robber overshadowed other more glamorous theories today in the mysterious slaying of auburn-haired Estelle Carey, 34-year-old photographers' model and dice girl, in her swanky northside apartment.

Police, however, had not abandoned the theory that gangland pals of Nick Circella, alias Nick Dean, who was convicted in a $1,000,000 motion picture extortion plot, may have tortured the beautiful model to death in an effort to make her reveal the hiding College President Sentenced For Attack on Child.

TOLEDO — (INS) — Walter S. Kilpatrick, 29-year-old president of Cedarville, (O.), college, today was held in the Toledo jail awaiting transfer to the Ohio penitentiary where he must serve an indeterminate term in Ohio penitentiary for felonious assault of a 7½-year-old girl.

Kilpatrick, one of the nation's youngest college heads and at one time considered for a seminary presidency, pleaded guilty in common pleas court. He must serve up to 10 years for the attack.

The court, in accepting the guilty plea, nolled a more serious charge against Kilpatrick of assault with intent to rape. The college head was accused of meeting the girl in a park Jan. 11 and taking her to his Toledo hotel room.

Germans Speed Holland Defense Against Invasion.

STOCKHOLM —(INS)— Reports reaching the Swedish capital today said that the Germans are making feverish preparations along the coast of Holland against a possible United Nations invasion.

It was estimated that a total of 90,000 Dutch residents had been compelled to evacuate The Hague. A large number of buildings were said to have been torn down in both The Hague and at Scheveningen.

CLEARS DECKS FOR BILL TO CHANGE TIME

Ohio House Suspends Rules To Get Immediate Action on Legislation.

SENATORS STILL COOL

Delay in Upper Chamber Seen Possible Over 'Effective at Once' Clause.

COLUMBUS —(INS)— All other measures were temporarily sidetracked in the Ohio legislature today to allow the house of representatives to suspend its rules and vote on a bill to turn Ohio clocks back one hour to "slow time."

Less than 48 hours after the measure had passed the senate, where the emergency clause making it immediately operative was stricken out, the house machinery had received the bill, referred it to judiciary committee, re-inserted the emergency clause, added two other minor clarifying amendments, and brought the measure to a vote.

Such speed was brought about only through suspension of the rules due to popular clamor from the floor, and proponents of "slow time" still predicted that the time change would be effective February 14, a week from this coming Sunday.

However, there are two possible stumbling blocks in the proposal to turn the clocks back at 2 a.m., on that date.

First, the bill would have to be sent back to the senate for concurrence in the house amendments, and favorable action there completed on Monday night so that the bill could reach the governor's desk for signature no later than Tuesday. This would require almost blanket suspension of senate rules, and sentiment in the senate is not nearly as strong for the change as it is in the predominately-rural house.

In fact, the emergency measure again may come to grief in the upper chamber, which would delay the operative date of the time change for 90 days, or until some time in May.

The senate vote for the bill itself was 22 to 8, which is just a constitutional two-thirds majority of the 33-member senate. The emergency measure, however, which needed a two-thirds vote, garnered only 20 votes, and hence was defeated. Those other two votes must be obtained if the bill is to bcome effective on the Sunday following the governor's signature.

Although no announcement was forthcoming from the governor's office, it was learned reliably that he had indicated he would not sign the bill this week if it reached his desk in the latter half of the week.

Numerous industries will need considerable time to accommodate

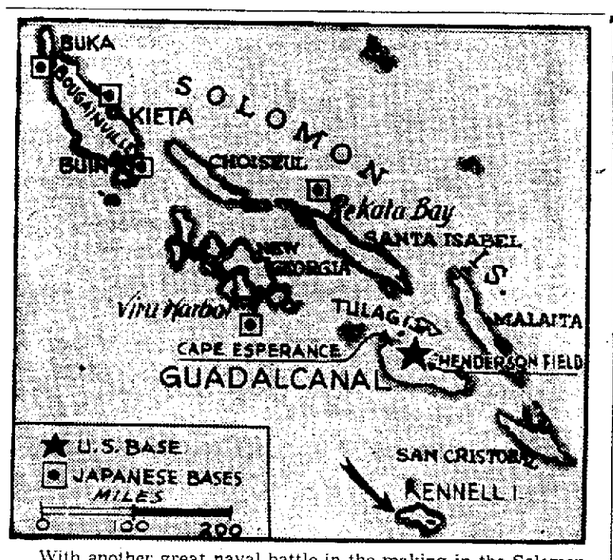
ARMY OF 250,000 TRIES TO ESCAPE CAUCASUS BY SEA



With another great naval battle in the making in the Solomon islands area, U. S. and Japanese naval units were sparring for position today in the South Pacific, navy spokesmen said in Washington. Losses were reported on both sides, but the spokesmen said there had been no pitched battle and that both sides were maneuvering for position to land a knockout blow. Tokyo had reported a battle already under way at Rennell island.

U. S., Jap Naval Units Flick Punishing Jabs

Maneuver In Southwest Pacific for Chance to Throw Haymaker In New Battle for Guadalcanal.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON—Like two heavyweight boxers feeling each other out, flicking tentative but punishing jabs here and there, United States and Japanese naval units are maneuvering in the Southwest Pacific for a stance from which to throw a haymaker.

From this corner there was only word that air and surface engagements "are continuing," but it appeared from the navy's restraint that a titantic struggle was shaping up for control of Guadalcanal island with its all-important airfield.

Naval spokesmen repeated that both sides have suffered losses, but one of them emphasized "the whole thing is a sparring for position," with the two major fleet units not yet joined in an all-out slugfest.

Both sides were swapping aerial blows.

The Japanese, it was revealed in delayed dispatches from the U. S. fleet in the South Pacific, released today, made their first night bombing attack on American surface vessels in the Guadalcanal area after dusk Jan. 29, but the results were not disclosed.

Officers of the fleet recalled

SAFER AT WAR!

Home Front Casualties in '42 Far Exceed Battle Losses.

CHICAGO — (U.P.) — The home front casualty list of 93,000 killed and 9,300,000 injured during America's first year at war far exceeded the total casualties on the battlefronts, the National Safety council reported today.

But despite its huge casualty tolls, the home front was 8 per cent safer in 1942 than in 1941, the report said. This saving was attributed to wartime restrictions on speed and travel, which cut traffic deaths by 12,200, or 30 per cent.

The toll of injured, however, remained about the same as for 1941. It meant that one out of every 14 persons in the United States suffered injury during the year.

HITLER PEACE MOVES HINTED

London Expects Development, Hears Rumania and Finland Near Cracking Point.

LONDON — The belief that Adolf Hitler may be preparing another peace offensive was expressed today in neutral quarters in London who said action might be initiated through Spain or Sweden or both.

These sources, which insisted on remaining anonymous, said there have been strange developments in Berlin since the Casablanca conference which suggest an impending move for a negotiated settlement in spite of the unsolicited denials from the Spanish embassies in Argentina and Chile that Generalissimo Franco had been designated a go-between.

The Spanish denial evoked considerable speculation concerning its motive especially in the absence of any widely circu-

MOSCOW — (INS) — Russian troops commanded by Gen. Yeremenko have stormed a large town south of Rostov and a Soviet tank detachment already has reached the center of the town, battlefront dispatches said today.

(By Associated Press)

Axis troops by the tens of thousands were apparently on the verge of a "Black sea Dunkerque" today and some reports declared Russian warships and planes were already smashing at German transports as the invaders attempted a seaborne escape from the Caucasus to the Crimea peninsula.

Latest Soviet dispatches said upwards of 250,000 German troops and their satellites, jammed into a narrow coastal strip in the western Caucasus, were in imminent danger of being split apart by Russian columns driving toward the Sea of Azov.

Soviet headquarters reported the Red armies were only 30 miles from the great German base at Rostov, whose fall would cut off the land "escape corridor" of Hitler's Caucasian armies, after capturing the town of Kagalnitskaya on the Salsk-Rostov railway.

Other major developments in the global war saw Britain's giant home-based bombers, perhaps 300 strong, blast the German North sea port of Hamburg, while Allied planes and submarines took a toll of at least 14 Axis ships sunk in the Mediterranean.

British undersea raiders alone accounted for nine Axis supply ships and an anti-submarine vessel sunk, two others probably destroyed and one damaged, the admiralty announced.

Four other enemy ships were officially reported sent to the bottom off the coast of Tunisia, sunk by Allied warplanes.

On the Tunisian front, Allied headquarters reported British troops had captured a hill eight miles southeast of Bou Arada, in the bitterly-contested Pont Du Fahs sector 35 miles below Tunis.

An official bulletin described the gain as "a limited success,"

GETS 'E' TODAY

Galion Plant Receives Army, Navy Honor Award.

GALION — One of Galion's biggest celebrations in recent years was to be staged this afternoon when the Army-Navy "E" award for excellence in the production of war materials was to be presented the Perfection Steel Body company by Lieut. Col. A. F. Witte of the Cleveland Ordnance district of the War department.

Army and Navy officials and Lieut. Gov. Paul M. Herbert, representing the state government, were scheduled to speak on the program, beginning at 4:15 p. m. in the high school auditorium. The Senior High school band was to head a parade from the City Hall to the high school preceding the program.

Harry Cobey, president of the company, was scheduled to receive the "E" pennant from Lieut. Col. Witte, while three representatives of the firm, Inez Shier, R. C. Hoover, and Leslie Sherer, were to receive Army-Navy "E" pins from Lieut. Comdr. J. P. Sturges of the Navy. Robert L. Moulton, Crawford county representative to the general assembly, was to preside.

Instructs Block Leaders on House to House Check Monday

Mansfield and Madison township block leaders, charged with the responsibility of carrying the program of civilian defense into every home in their territory, heard their first piece of work—a "share-a-ride" campaign outlined by state civilian defense and highway officials today.

More than 200 workers from each city ward and rural area in the township attended the initial organization meeting at the American Legion home this morning whenu Delbert L. Pugh of Columbus, chief of war services for the Ohio State Council of Defense, and Harry E. Neal, chief engineer of traffic and safety of the Ohio Department of Highways explained both the block plan and campaign procedure.

Registration of every household in the campaign begins Monday and completion is expected within two weeks. Approximately 500

Develop War-Time Physical Training for High Pupils

Preparation for training more than 1,000 Senior high school pupils—boys and girls—in an enlarged "physicial fitness" program will take place tomorrow when five Mansfield school representatives attend a district institute at Ashland.

Conducted as part of a statewide program to prepare youths of high school age for the "unusually heavy tasks they will be called upon to assume in the near future," the institute will be attended by school officials from throughout the Ashland district.

Mansfield Senior high school boys will have a part in the Ashland program. A group of 10 will stage a demonstration in athletic tumbling under the direction of Coach Paul Snyder.

Purpose of the course is to develop strength, endurance, stamina and body coordination to condition boys and girls for the tasks they may be called upon to perform along a military line, Mehock added.

Training for boys will include learning to swim under water, to swim long distances, to give aid to other swimmers and to swim fully clothed. In addition the program will include an obstacle course, commando tactics, marching and running training and general physical exercises.

Girls will be given nearly the

LIBRARY GETS NEW NOVEL BY UPTON SINCLAIR

'Wide Is the Gate' Deals With Life of Lanny Budd During Nazi Blood Purge.

Upton Sinclair has written a fourth novel in the story of Lanny Budd, American, born to the realms of international society and diplomatic intrigue entitled, "Wide is the Gate" to be on display Saturday at Mansfield Public Library.

This book sees him involved in the German underground, stealing into Spain to rescue a Loyalist flier and chatting with Goering and Hitler in his role of an art dealer. Covering the period from the Nazi blood purge to the Spanish Civil war, this long and eventful story portrays vividly the years in which Europe slid quickly towards destruction and its leaders chose sides for the holocaust to come.

FOR MY GREAT FOLLY by Thomas B. Costain is a robust yarn of piracy, sea fights, and high romance in 17th century England. Here is the colorful life of underworld London, of Free Rovers—English pirates who warred upon the Spaniards, led by dashing John Ward. He is last seen in Tunis, harbor of pirates living in a marble palace with a harem of his own. Here too, are wholesale hangings royal intrigue, and a vivid historical background.

A CIRCLE IN THE WATER by Helen Hull deals with 30 years in the lives of Hilary and Vera Sedzewick. Hilary is a college professor and author talented and aspiring, whose drive toward achievement has taken him out of the Maine village of his boyhood. The slow disintegration of their marriage is also revealed. It is a moving story—its theme: that freedom comes only with man's understanding of himself.

OTHER FICTION: SUMMER AFTER SUMMER—Sullivan; UNTIL THAT DAY—Taylor; VALLEY OF NIGHT—Farnol.

SYRIAN YANKEE, an autobiography, by Salon Rizk is the story of his incredible life his adventures in democracy, and his experiences in self-education. Rizk was born in 1909 in a tiny poverty-stricken town in Syria. When he was 12 he discovered that through his mother he could claim American citizenship. Five years later he arrived in this country penniless and homeless.

Bella Fromm now an exile in America, a star reporter for the great Ullstein chain of newspapers, kept a faithful diary of each days happenings from 1932 to the beginning of the war. BLOOD AND BANQUETS is based upon this diary. Packed with anecdotes, incidents and revealing flashes of conversation, it gives a graphic picture of the new, dark age of Hitlerism.

The biography of William Sowden Sims, ADMIRAL SIMS: AND THE MODERN AMERICAN NAVY by Eling E. Morison, is at once the portrait of a brilliant, humorous, courageous man and the story of the American Navy for the past half century. When he died in 1936, the New York "Herald Tribune" wrote "He influenced our naval course more than any other man who ever wore the uniform."

SCIENCE REMAKES OUR WORLD by James Stokley tells what modern industrial research means in the life of every American—new processes, new materials, new discoveries described in popular language—with a special section of photographs and a frontispiece in full color.

WPB Restores Priority For Ohio Road, Bridge Projects.

WASHINGTON—(ÆP)—Priority assistance for construction of a highway and a bridge project in Ohio, which were revoked on Jan. 8, were restored by the war production board yesterday and work will be permitted to continue, the WPB announced.

The priority orders were amended to expire Dec. 31, 1943. They cover construction of about five miles of concrete paving, including bridges of timber and concrete, on State Route 18 from Penfield to Litchfield, Ohio, and construction of two bridges and approaches on State Route 18 in the vicinity of Wellington, Lorain county, Ohio.

TEACHERS HEAR BOARD UNABLE TO BOOST PAY

Galion Instructors Fail Again To Get Salary Increases; May Join Union.

GALION—For the purpose of discussing the salary problem of teachers, there was a representation of the Galion Classroom Teachers association at the monthly meeting of the board of education Wednesday afternoon.

This was the first afternoon meeting of the board this year, the regular meeting date having been changed from the first Tuesday night to the first Wednesday afternoon of each month.

The salary committee of the Classroom Teachers association was invited by Supt. M. A. Povenmire to sit in on the board meeting. During the discussion of the financial situation of the board, members said there were no sufficient funds to meet a salary raise at this time. They thought there was a probability of some unanticipated revenue.

At a meeting of the Classroom Teachers association on Jan. 5, a resolution was passed asking the board for a bonus of $200 to be pro-rated over the remainder of the school year on each teacher's salary, and that if the board could not make an adjustment in the present salary schedule, that this amount would remain as an increase per year on each teacher's salary.

The response of the board of education at a special meeting was that this request could not be met because the financial condition of the schools would not permit it.

Balance in the school treasury as of Jan. 30, 1943, as submitted by the clerk of the board, Isabel Monroe, was $4,751.92. Bills read and approved for payment for the past month amounted to $2,350.

A resolution was passed by the board asking for an advanced draw of $25,000 from the county auditor.

Mrs. Floris Arnold was hired by the board to fill the vacancy in the kindergarten at the East school building. She will replace Mrs. Clark Zimmerman (Jean Leavenworth), was married recently and will leave soon to join her husband at Omaha, Neb.

Mrs. Arnold, who has been teaching in the Galion Nursery school for the past six years, came here from Marion where she taught at the Glenwood Nursery school. She has had two and one-half years of training at Butler university, Indianapolis, Ind.

SETS UP ORGANIZATION FOR CRAWFORD MEDICAL AUXILIARY

GALION — Committees were named for the year by Mrs. C. J. Griebling, president, at the February meeting of the auxiliary to the Crawford County Medical association Tuesday. This was a luncheon meeting at Hotel Talbott with Mrs. W. W. Corwin, Galion, as hostess.

For the program Mrs. Griebling and Mrs. John Kiess, Bucyrus, read articles from the national bulletin of the organization.

Because Mrs. C. A. Marquart of Crestline declined her election as president-elect, the auxiliary chose Mrs. Darrell Bibler of Bucyrus to serve. For next month's meeting, Mrs. Griebling will be hostess.

Committees appointed by Mrs. Griebling are:

Program, Mrs. Corwin of Galion, Mrs. W. G. Carlisle of Bucyrus, and Mrs. Mart Helfrich of Galion; public relations, Mrs. Kiess and Mrs. G. T. Wasson of Bucyrus, and Mrs. R. M. Malone of Galion; publicity, Mrs. C. A. Lingenfelter of Bucyrus, Mrs. Corwin of Galion, and Mrs. E. C. Brandt of Crestline; finance, Mrs. Charles King, Mrs. E. R. Schoolfield, and Mrs. Russell Caton all of Bucyrus; historian, Mrs. Bibler of Bucyrus.

Delegates elected to the convention to be held at Columbus in March are Mrs. Griebling and Mrs. Corwin.

A patriotic program was in charge of Mrs. Louis Metzger for a recent meeting of the Daughters of Union Veterans at the Armory. Those taking part were Mrs. Don Halbert, Mrs. Carl Coover, Mrs. Pearl Greter, Mrs. David Bauer and Mrs. E. C. Gledhill. A defense stamp was awarded as the prize in a contest won by Mrs. Coover. National general orders were read by Mrs. Coover.

During the business session, the relief work was estimated at $37. A party was planned for the near future at the home of Mrs. Don Halbert. At the close of the afternoon, lunch was served by a committee headed by Mrs. George Beach.

Friends of the former Janice Armstrong, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ira T. Armstrong of Galion, will be interested to learn that her husband, Earl W. Finley, has been promoted from first lieutenant to captain in the U. S. Army Air Corps. His home is in Lakewood. He is a graduate of Miami university and John Marshall Law school. He joined the air corps in April, 1941, and won his wings and commission in December, 1942.

Robert James, son of Mrs. Clara James of Galion, has enlisted in the Army Air Corps, and left Tuesday for Nashville, Tenn., for induction. In two weeks he will be sent to a base for aviation cadet training. He has been employed at the North Electric Manufacturing company here since he graduated from Galion high school in 1936.

WORK NIGHTS ON SUPPLY DEPOT JOB AT SHELBY

Complete Water Line to Site of Federal Project; Abandon Trailer Camp Plan.

SHELBY — Work is progressing on the $3,000,000 air force supply depot north of the city with the completion of the water line from the Municipal Water company to the site.

Elictric light poles have been placed along the east side of state route 61 to the site so that electricity can be supplied from the Municipal Light company.

Underground cables have been placed for telephone service.

Men have been working at the site during most of the night as well as daytime. Although applications for jobs have not been coming in very fast at the A. F. of L. office set up here, officials in charge said they expected an increase as soon as additional men are needed on the project.

Meanwhile, city officials are abandoning the proposed plans for a Municipal trailer camp for the workers at the depot. A revised estimate of the costs set the total at $2,500 instead of $1,000 for a utility building on the site at the water company plant.

City officials believe that the investment would be too large for the use that the camp would get here.

Mayor W. R. Morris has been authorized to get easements and options needed to build the upground storage reservoir in connection with the Municipal Water company improvement project which includes a dam across the Black Fork river. Officials are awaiting word from federal officials as to whether the project would receive grants to help finance it.

POLICE HAVE SLOW MONTH

SHELBY—Net stolen property loss for Shelby in January was only $60, police reports showed today. Residents reported property valued at $90 stolen during the month. Police recovered $30 of this amount.

Traffic accidents made up the majority of the 28 reports listed by police for the month.

HOSPITAL NOTES

GALION — Barbara Ross was admitted to City hospital for medical treatment, and Mrs. Hazel Elliott was admitted for surgery Thursday.

Dismissals from the hospital Wednesday were Earl Treisch, Mrs. Paul Miller, Mrs. Woodrow Pinyerd, Mrs. Leroy Grogg, Alice McCombs and Mrs. Howard Webb and infant.

IT'S 56 TODAY

BUCYRUS — The 56th anniversary of its founding will be observed Thursday by the Order of Eastern Star when a short program will be presented in charge of a special committee.

LIQUOR SALES UP

BUCYRUS — Sales at the Bucyrus liquor store in 1942 were $3,000 higher that those made during 1941, figures submitted by the local liquor store management showed today.

MAKE AWARDS AT BUCYRUS

BUCYRUS — Awards for advancement will be given at the Boy Scout court of honor to be held Thursday night in common pleas court room.

Judge C. U. Ahl, chairman, will preside at the court and E. G. Oppenlander, district chairman, will extend greetings.

A three-act play and demonstration in Scouting achievement will comprise the program.

RITES FRIDAY

Conduct Services at Ruggles For Charles Blair.

NEW LONDON — Funeral services will be conducted at 2:30 p. m. Friday for Charles Blair, 53, lifelong resident of Ruggles township, who died at the New London hospital early Wednesday after a long illness.

The services will be conducted from the Ruggles Federated church, with Rev. Donald Syler officiating, and burial will be in Ruggles cemetery.

Surviving are the widow, Ruth, a daughter, Irene, both at home; a daughter, Mildred, of Columbus, and his father, Joe Blair, of Savannah.

Arrangements were completed by the Fitch funeral home here.

BUSINESS UP

Galion Firm Reports It's 100 Per Cent on War Work.

GALION — An increase in business during the past year, with the factory engaged 100 per cent in government work for the war effort, was shown in the annual reports submitted at the sixth annual meeting of the Eagle Crusher company here this week.

Re-election of the following board of directors took place: C. L. Wood, Dr. H. W. Todd, Albert N. Cox, C. F. Unckrich, J. S. Boyd, C. F. Boyd, H. F. Place, all of Galion, and A. F. Unckrich of Columbus.

C. L. Wood is president and general manager of the company. C. F. Unckrich is vice president, and H. F. Place is secretary-treasurer.

BUCYRIAN GETS HIS COMMISSION

BUCYRUS — Robert Spurlock, son of Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Spurlock, has completed his officers' training in the naval reserves and received his ensign's commission at recent graduation ceremonies. He is spending several days with his parents while awaiting assignment.

Ensign Spurlock enlisted in the naval reserves in October, 1941, and received his basic training at Great Lakes and New Orleans, La. He saw service in the Caribbean sea and at Panama last summer before being assigned for officers' training. He is a graduate of Ohio Northern Law school and was admitted to the Ohio bar in August, 1941.

WINS PROMOTION

'RN BIG PARK INTO GARDEN

AN FRANCISCO — (INS) Eighty thousand square feet of Francisco's famed Golden Park will become a vegeta- garden next spring. ready 400 citizens have "stak- their claims." Rolling green lawns and shaded glens, in other days the haven of picnickers and Sunday strollers, have been divided into twenty by twenty foot plots, awaiting the gardener's spade.

Planters won't be able to get their carrots, onions and potatoes in until late January or February, as it will take about two months to prepare the ground for seed.

FAMILY'S FIGHTING FORCE

FREDERICK, Okla.—(AP)—Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Holloman of Frederick now have seven sons in the armed services. The roll call: Haskell, lieutenant in the navy; Delmar, army major; Leon, a surgeon, lieutenant; Captain Robert; Horace, a dentist and a lieutenant; I. J., a lieutenant, and Jeff, a private.

LAUNCH SCHOOL FOR TEACHING FORECASTERS

200 in Army to Learn Ways of Weather in Course at Granville.

GRANVILLE—Denison university is progressing with plans for the basic pre-meteorological center to be established Feb. 1. The school for 200 privates in the Army Air forces will be one of 12 colleges in the United States offering the "C" program to train weather officers, President Kenneth I. Brown announced.

Five departments at Denison will be drawn upon to furnish the teaching personnel for the 49 hours of academic work on a five and a half day weekly schedule running for 12 months under the contractual agreement with the war department.

Mathematics will carry the heaviest burden with physics sharing the 31-hour schedule for lectures, laboratory periods, and drill under faculty supervision. The remaining 18 hours will be divided equally between geography, history and English.

Military drill will be handled by Army Air officers at least 10 hours a week. Privates will also be under military discipline at all times.

Curtis hall, built in 1940 for freshman men, will be used as quarters and mess hall for the 200 A. A. F. privates. By exchanging single beds for the double-deck style and by serving meals cafeteria style the facilities are adequate, President Brown said. The college has set aside its rule requiring freshman men to reside in the dormitory and will permit them to live in fraternity houses or to room in the village.

Applications for the training have been handled from the central office in Chicago but Denison has not yet received any list of the personnel to be trained here, according to President Brown.

JUST A RUMOR

NEW YORK—(AP)—Butchers in the know here insist there's no truth to the rumor that the department of agriculture will soon start grading horse meat in three classifications: Win, place and show.

Sport Podge by REX HESS

Ordinarily this is the time f year for Mansfield high chool's athletic department o announce its football schedle for the following fall, omplete from start to finish.

But these are not ordinary imes, and next autumn's grid rogram is far from complete.

That transportation bugaoo, and fear of further government orders, hang heavy ver the heads of the Tyger chedule makers.

Already an order by the Akron oard of education, restricting ravel by Akron high school teams o the immediate Rubber City rea, has taken Akron West's owboys off their usual place at he opening of the Mansfield ason.

This loss has been a blessing in isguise since it opened the way or resumption of relations with larion Harding, an old N. C. O. ague rival of the Tygers.

Marion has signed a two-year, ome-and-home contract with he Tygers for the opening game assignment, and Mansfield will journey to the Presidents' gridron for next fall's opener on Sept. 17.

The thing that has Coach aul Snyder worried now is he hesitancy being shown by anton McKinley to declare efinitely whether the Bullogs will make the Mansfield ip next fall.

Several letters written to anton have failed to bring out such a declaration.

But Mansfield high school as no reason to feel put out McKinley's hesitancy, since he Tygers are also withholdg definite word that they'll ake the long trips to Niles nd Portsmouth next autumn.

"We don't know now as to hether we'll be able, or even ermitted by the government make trips of that length xt season," Coach Snyder plains.

Snyder disclosed that the high hool is dickering with Barber-n for a game, possibly to take e place of Niles or Portsmouth the schedule.

"But if Canton McKinley refuses make the trip to Mansfield, we ay have to book the road games Niles and Portsmouth to fill t our schedule, and then wait see if we are permitted to make e trips," Snyder says.

Meanwhile the Tygers should ecall that Newark owes Mansfield a game here from a home-nd-home contract, the first alf of which was filled by the ygers at Newark two years go. It begins to look like we'll ced some home games on the hedule.

lesner Contract oes Back to Reds

NEW YORK — (INS) — Steve sner, rookie infielder, was once un the property of the Cinnati Reds, today under a ruling ued by Baseball Commissioner nesaw M. Landis.

Landis ruled that the recent le of Mesner to the Brooklyn odgers by the Reds violated e National league's draft regulations.

Under a rule adopted last fall club can sell a player it draft- via the waiver route until it given him a trial. The Reds fted Mesner from the Sacrato club of the Pacific Coast gue and must hold on to him il April 1.

t is probable the Reds will e Steve a trial in spring train- and transfer his contract to ooklyn in April.

Westinghouse, the dethroned champ, barely edged out a 42 to 41 overtime win over Athletic Supply in the nightcap.

A 16 point rally in the second quarter put the Sports far in front after they had held an 8 to 5 first period lead.

Continuing their hot pace in the third stanza, Yunckers gathered 12 tallies while holding the Steelers to seven to hold a 36-22 margin entering the finale.

Harry Phillips and Dick Wade scored 14 and 12 points respectively to pace the Sports attack while Matt Hager had 15 for Globe Steel.

The Steelers were hurt by the loss of two of their regulars, Ken Lockhart and Joe Altamonte. Lockhart played with Westinghouse last night.

It took the first overtime period in league play this season to decide the Athletic Supply-Westinghouse tussle.

The Westies jumped off to an 8 to 2 lead early in the first quarter on two buckets by Bayer and one each by Poole and Vogel. The period ended with the Westies leading 15-8

The Supplies came back with 10 points in the second to cut the Westies lead to 19 18 at half time.

Trailing 28 to 22 entering the final frame, the Athletics chalked up 14 tallies to deadlock the contest at 36-all as the regulation time ended.

Flockenzier opened the three minute overtime with a free throw and Eichler followed with a lay up, putting the Supplies three point ahead. But the lead was quickly erased when Lockhart, Wade and Vogel hit for Westinghouse. Abele bucket cut the lead to a single point, but that point was enough.

The victory tied Westinghouse with Globe Steel for second place and it left the Supplies in the basement for keeps.

Appleseed 7th Graders Win

Take First Game In Series With John Simpson.

Oreweiller's bucket in a sudden-death overtime period yesterday gave Johnny Appleseed seventh graders a 19-17 victory over John Simpson seventh grade in the opening game of a grade schedule between the two junior high school cage camps.

It was a close battle all the way with Appleseed holding a 4-1 edge in the first quarter, Simpson a 13-11 margin at the half, and 15-13 lead at the third quarter, and Appleseed tying it up at 17-17 in the fourth period.

Prelims Scheduled In Millrose Dash

NEW YORK — (INS) — Eight preliminary heats, two semi-finals of four each and a four-man final today were scheduled to accommodate the 32 entrants in the 60-yard dash at the Millrose games Saturday.

Included among the top stars entered are Norwood "Barney" Elwell, now a private at Camp Lee; Ed Conwell, N. Y. U. freshman; Bill Carter, Harold Stickel and Herbert Thompson.

In the high hurdles, Ensign Fred Wolcott, national hurdles champion, was compelled to withdraw his entry because of a change in duty at the Georgia pre-flight school to which he is assigned. Heading the list for this event now are Bob Wright of Ohio State and Charles "Whitey" Hlad, air force cadet at Chicago who was formerly of Michigan normal.

Miami and Bee Gees Lose Valuable Men.

(By Associated Press)

Scholastic ineligibilities and army inductions left Bowling Green and Miami's basketball squads shattered today.

The Bee-Gees, roaring along at a point-and-a-half-a-minute clip for 16 victories in 19 games, lost two stars and a substitute through ineligibility and two substitutes to the army, while academic rulings cost Miami its high scoring forward, Elmer Bean of Springfield, and five teammates.

Biggest loss to Coach Harold Anderson of Bowling Green, who now must rebuild his team around Wyndol Gray of Akron, the state's leading scorer, was Don Otten of Bellefontaine, six-foot 11-inch center who played "goalie" on defense.

Otten has been the major factor in keeping opposition scoring to 707 points while the Falcons rolled up a total of 1,135.

Anderson also must find a replacement for the team's second highest scorer. Forward Roger Philips of Cridersville, who has hit for 141 points in 19 contests to Gray's 453 in 18 games.

Forward Bill Qualman of Toledo was dropped by academic ruling, while Center Charles Givens of Mt. Vernon and Robert Beatty are entering the army.

In Ohio college basketball last night Toledo university trounced Kent State 59 to 41 at Kent for its fourth Ohio conference victory against no league defeats and its 12th win in 14 games against all opposition; Heidelberg edged Baldwin Wallace 53 to 50 in a loop contest at Tiffin and Youngstown romped over St. Vincent of Latrobe, Pa., 61 to 46.

BOXER INJURED IN AUTOMOBILE ACCIDENT

CLEVELAND — (UP) — Slight automobile accident injuries suffered by Anton Christoforidas were not expected today to cause postponement for his duration light heavyweight title bout with Jimmy Bivins Feb. 23.

Christoforidas was injured only slightly yesterday when his automobile overturned, killing James Vagas, 44. Their wives were trapped in the machine but both escaped injury.

READY FOR BOUT

DETROIT —(INS)— Ray Robinson, New York's sensational Negro welterweight, and Jake Lamotta, crafty middleweight from the Bronx, today completed their training for tomorrow night's 10-round fistic encounter in Olympia. Robinson, who copped a decision from Lamotta in a previous meeting, ruled the favorite in the betting.

Hook Shown Here

(AP Features)

Here is the position of the hand when releasing the ball. If the bowler wants to throw a hook —a working ball—the thumb comes out first and the fingers apply the twist with a counter-clockwise motion. The hope of the bowler is to deliver the ball into the 1-3 pocket, that is against the headpin and the pin to the right. When the bowler has developed a hook, she places the ball closer to the righthand side of the alley, the spot depending on the width of the hook.

Tomorrow: Payoff Pocket.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

NEW YORK — (AP) — Judging from the lists of ex-athletes and coaches who have been assigned to the navy's new flight preparatory schools recently, there'll be plenty of athletic activity at some colleges as soon as they get things organized. . . . So if you see "Wahoo Prep" among the football scores next fall, don't jump at the conclusion that it's just a high school game. It may be a better team than Minnesota. . . . But we also see that the army air forces technical command, which turned thumbs down on football last fall, still is "agin" any real competitive sports. Maj. Gen. Jacob E. Fickel recently took some pretty good boxers out of Texas amateur tournaments and wiped out a couple of basketball teams by ordering that "no enlisted man in this district can compete in athletics off the post."

AMATEUR HOUR.

Jack Lavelle, unofficial biographer of Greg Rice, likes to tell about the time Rice went from Notre Dame to an eastern track meet. Upon his arrival, Greg was handed his expense money in cash, but when he got back to South Bend a check for "expenses" arrived. . . . Rice promptly penned a note saying there must have been a mistake and mailed it back. . . . Well, wasn't it Knute Rockne who defined an amateur as "a guy who won't accept a check"?

SHORTS AND SHELLS.

Suppose you noticed that professional athletes weren't listed among the "non-deferrable" classes yesterday, but green keepers were told to get other jobs. Looks as if the pro golfers really would have to start playing cow pasture pool. . . . Jimmy Johnston reports his heavyweight, Freddie Fiducia, will fight Pat Valentino at San Francisco Feb. 22. "And won't it kill 'em when I write that I always was a great admirer of Rudolph Valentino so I'm glad to have Fiducio fight his son?" chuckles Jimmy.

Whippets Out to Upset Presidents

SHELBY—Coach Larry Swackhamer is expected to start the line-up that has won two games in the North Central Ohio league cage race so far when the Whippets meet Marion Harding here Friday night.

Out to upset the Harding five and knock them out of a chance for a tie with Ashland for the title, the Whippets have been working hard on a defense to stop Dick Mulvaine, NCO league leading scorer. Mulvaine has averaged about 18 points per game for a total of 107 points in six contests.

Starting for Shelby will probably be veterans Bill Emich and Ralph Higgins, guards; Herb Poland, center, and Salvator DeVito and Joe Garns, forwards.

GOMEZ SIGNS

BOSTON — (INS) — The Boston Braves had the signed 1943 contract of newly acquired Lefty Gomez in the safe today. The veteran Yankee southpaw signed for unannounced terms.

ARMSTRONG BOOKED

LOS ANGELES — (INS) — Hammerin' Henry Armstrong, former triple title-holder, today was signed to a 10-round fight with Jimmy Garrison at Oakland, Cal., as "soon as he recovers from a recent tonsillectomy."

Dates Set for School Tourneys

COLUMBUS — (U P) — Commissioner H. R. Townsend of the Ohio High School Athletic association today announced dates for the annual state championship high school baseball, track, golf, tennis, wrestling and swimming tournaments.

The swimming meet was scheduled for Ohio State university's natatorium Feb. 26-27 under the direction of Buckeye swimming coach, Mike Peppe. District eliminations were cut out completely this year and coaches were asked to send only their outstanding boys.

Cleveland received the wrestling tournament for Feb. 26-27 with actual location to be announced later.

Unless transportation difficulties become worse, district and state eliminations in baseball, golf, tennis and track are to be held May 14, 15, 21 and 22. As in the past, finals will be held at Ohio State university on May 28-29.

MAKES GOOD IN INDIANA

NOTRE DAME, Ind. — (AP) — Frank E. Coughlin, captain of the undefeated 1920 Notre Dame football team, the last with which George Gipp played, has been appointed assistant attorney general for the state of Indiana. He lives in South Bend.

In 1913, the U. S. Army purchased 126,000,000 pounds of hay —but only 16 motor trucks.

IRREGULARITY PERSISTS ON STOCK MARKET

Bank Clearings Rise Sharply To Highest Level of Like Period in 12 Years.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—Slight irregularity persisted in today's early stock market transactions.

Up a shade at a quiet opening were Consolidated Edison and General Electric. Fractional declines were posted for Sperry, North American, Radio Corp., and U. S. Rubber. Numerous issues were unchanged.

Boardrooms noted the Dun & Bradstreet compilation disclosing bank clearings in 23 cities during the week ended Feb. 3 rose sharply to the highest level for any like period in 12 years.

Scanned also was the Engineering News-Record survey indicating construction contracts in the current week were 95 per cent above the preceding week but 49 per cent below comparable time last year.

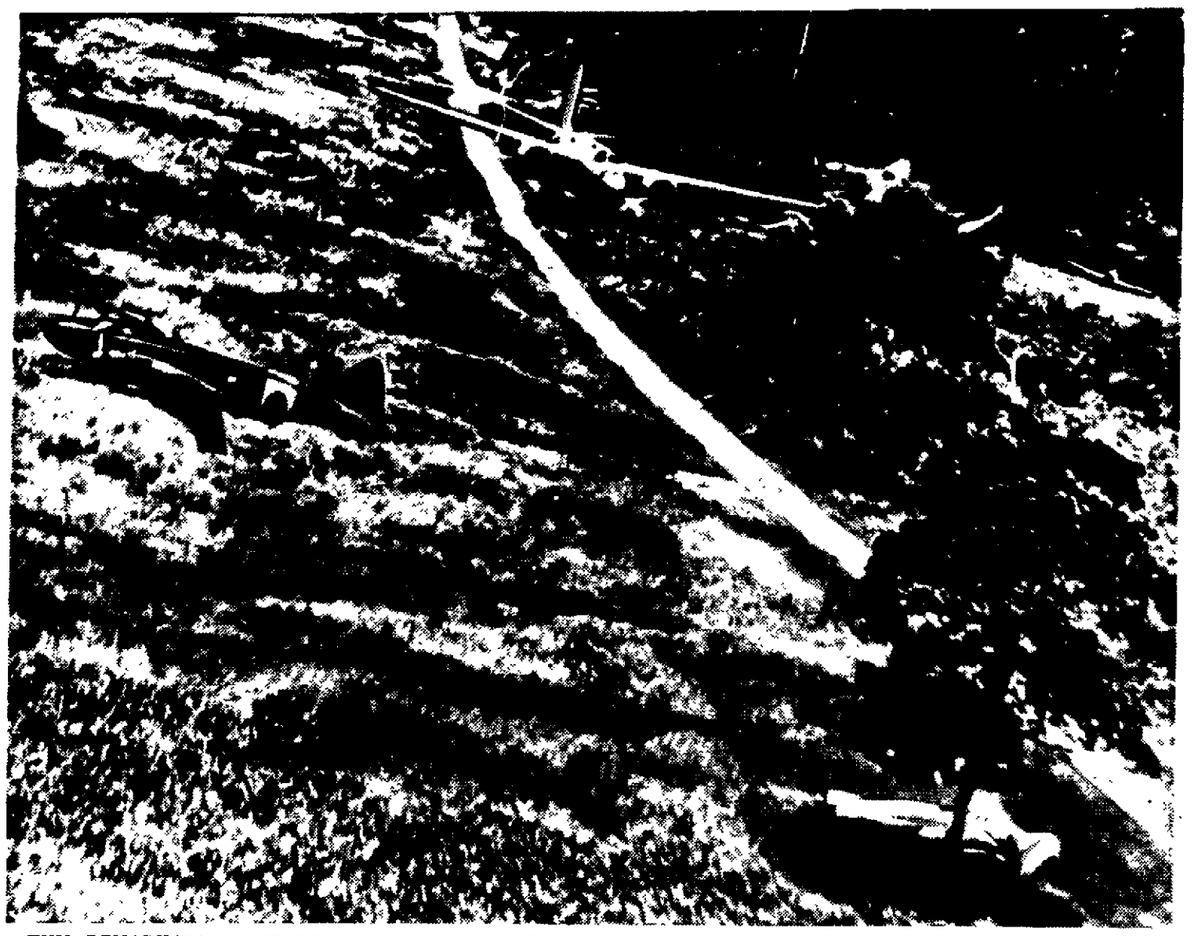
U. S. Pilot Hedge-Hops to Strafe Jap Planes on Ground



THIS REMARKABLE PICTURE was taken over Lae, New Guinea. A U. S. pilot, flying an A-20 plane just about 100 feet above the ground, strafes a number of Jap planes below it. The score this time was five to nothing in favor of the U. S. A disabled Jap bomber is below the A-20. At lower right is the remains of a Jap Zero. Another Zero lies damaged at the edge of the clearing at upper right. Two more Jap planes, torn by the withering machine gun fire, are obscured by vegetation and trees at top center. This is an official United States Signal Corps photo.

START NEW CLASSES

BUCYRUS — Instructions started this week in the newly formed classes in civilian defense, which upon completion will provide trained workers in the rural communities as well as the larger centers A total of 83 persons were enrolled in the two groups. They will be instructed as air raid wardens and auxiliary police.

Vaudeville dates its popularity from the time of the French Revolution.

DEER MOVE TO FARM REGIONS

Heavy Timber Forces Animals Southward in Minnesota, Creating Problem.

ST PAUL, Minn.—(U.P.)—Thousands of deer in agricultural territory where there were none 10 years ago are providing a major problem for the Minnesota conservation department.

W. L. Strunk, conservation commissioner, said the deer have drifted southward from Minnesota's forest regions so rapidly that they have become a highway hazard and a nuisance to farmers.

Conservation officials are unable to account for the southward migration, and point out that at the turn of the century virtually all Minnesota's deer were in the northern third of the state. It was a rare occurrence to spot deer in the central Minnesota counties. The southward movement began in 1930.

Strunk said the deer apparently were pushed from the north by returning heavy forest growth there. When the northern region was lumbered, and in many cases burned over, the second growth bush that followed was ideal deer forage. Rigid fire protection has encouraged heavy forest growth and the animals might be looking for more open country.

Whatever the reason, he added, more than 300 deer can now be found within 40 miles of Minneapolis-St Paul metropolitan area.

Recently, two motorists were killed a few miles north of St. Paul when their car struck three deer on a paved highway. A deer invaded a Twin Cities commercial establishment Farmers are grumbling about damage done by the animals Their cornfields have been looted, their spring wheat fields trampled

As a result, the department of conservation is receiving protests, damage claims, and sermons on deer control.

Thinks Ohio Hens Earned 'E' Flag For Production

COLUMBUS—(INS)—Ohio hens are entitled to an "E" flag for maintaining high production despite problems with feed and labor on poultry farms, according to C. M. Fergusion, poultry husbandry specialist.

Records of 336 poultry farms co-operating with the Ohio State university poultry department show a 25 per cent increase in production per hen in October, 1942, as compared with records for the same month of 1941 Ferguson said

"Poultrymen are receiving better prices for their eggs than a year ago, but the costs of production also have risen considerably," he pointed out.

WAR DEVELOPS SINUS RELIEF

New Pressure Chamber Sets Up Right Atmospheric Conditions.

CHICAGO —(INS)— An altitude pressure chamber for treatment of sinus patients and for use in the development of aviation medicine has been developed by Northwestern University's medical school with promising results, Dean James R. Miller reported recently.

The sinus machine is outfitted with pumps which create the necessary atmospheric conditions. Dr. Miller said, and ordinarily the altitude reading is raised to 8,000 feet to attain the best results.

Of the military studies conducted with the machine, which are necessarily secret, Dr. Miller said:

"Significant contributions already have been made and many more are in process that will be of benefit to all our fighting men."

Ten patients may be treated at one sitting in the latest amplified and enlarged chamber now in use, Dr. Miller explained.

Rarified atmosphere created by the pumps, he said, draws air out of the subject's cavities at the same time effectually draining them of congestion, Dr. Miller stated.

Patients are not subjected to any pain by the treatment, it was added.

Dr. Glenn J. Green, head of the school's staff, said:

"I feel we are on the threshold of some more physiological approaches to the treatment of sinus disease."

Studies indicate a widened field will be opened in the treatment of sinus disease which is common in the Great Lakes section.

Best In Science Keeps U. S. Fliers In Top Condition

TAMPA, Fla.—(AP)— The army air corps uses light, cold, heat, water and the laying on of hands to restore paralyzed muscles, stiff joints and burned skin of its fliers at MacDill Field and the officers and men on the ground who keep them flying.

An estimated 50 treatments are given daily at the physical therapy ward to put the men back in fighting trim as soon as possible and keep injuries from causing permanent disability.

Electrical stimulations also are used for restoring muscles to normal, interruptions of the current causing muscles alternately to expand and contract.

The department, organized a little over a year ago, consists of six rooms containing the latest type of equipment for physiotherapy.

FATALLY BURNED

ALLIANCE —(AP)— Friction ignited the gasoline tank of an automobile while it was being dismantled at a scrap yard here and Ben Rice, 42, suffered fatal burns.

AXIS FACE RED 'DUNKERQUE' IN SOUTH RUSSIA

250,000 Troops Attempting To Escape Caucasus By Sea; RAF Blasts Hamburg.

indicating there had been no major break through the tough Nazi perimeter of defenses guarding the Tunis-Bizerte zone.

To the south, German military quarters reported Nazi vanguards near Sened, 165 miles below Tunis, had fallen back "to parry an enveloping thrust by superior American forces."

The Germans also declared U. S. troops struck in a daylong attack on both sides of strategic Faid Pass, 50 miles north of Sened, after bringing up "a new division equipped with the most modern weapons, supported by a tank brigade."

Nazi quarters asserted the attacks were repulsed after violent fighting.

Both Sened and the Faid Pass dominate the approaches to the port of Sfax, vital link in the escape corridor of Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's retreating armies from Libya.

While Lieut.-Gen. Dwight E. Eisenhower's headquarters remained virtually noncommittal on Axis reports of a developing Allied offensive in Tunisia, French headquarters said sharp fighting was in progress in the mountains between Ousseltia and Kairouan.

Allied troops in the Ousseltia-Kairouan sector were directing a threat to the gulf port of Sousse, 75 miles below Tunis.

On th Libyan front, Allied dispatches indicated Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery's British Eighth army was striking out in a flanking maneuver, circling around Marshal Rommel's forces to the south to cut in behind the French-built Mareth (little Maginot) line in Tunisia, in preference to a frontal attack.

This strategy appeared to be borne out, in part, by a British communique reporting "our patrols were active in all sectors."

British Eighth army troops were last reported attacking Rommel's rearguards in the vicinity of Pisida, on the coastal road 12 miles east of the Tunisian frontier.

In the Russian campaign, the threat to Hitler's armies below Rostov dominated a picture of cascading triumphs by the Red armies along a 600-mile front.

London heard that Russia's Black sea fleet and Soviet planes were pounding Nazi transports below the narrow Kerch strait, which separates the Caucasus from the Crimea, and the Berlin radio significantly noted the Germans still controlled two escape bridgeheads—one on the Kerch strait, the other the Don delta below Rostov.

In the western air war, the British listed 16 planes as missing after a smashing overnight attack on Hamburg—the second raid there in five nights and the second attack on Germany in 24 hours — while the Nazis claimed only 12 planes shot down.

The British air ministry said the port city was heavily attacked and "large fires were left burning."

REACH MADRID

U. S. Paratroopers Who Landed in Spain Are To Be Freed.

LONDON—(AP)—The Berlin radio asserted today that 15 United States parachute troopers who landed by mistake in Spanish Morocco have arrived in Madrid by air from Melilla under guard.

It broadcast the following, datelined Madrid: "It is stated that they will be escorted to the Portuguese frontier within the next few days." They suggested that the soldiers might be released.

YOUTH HELD

Admits Series Of Robberies In Akron Recently.

AKRON—(INS)—A 16-year-old youth was held today by juvenile authorities after admitting several robberies in the city within the past few months. Identified by 12 witnesses, the youth admitted to police that he held up the Taylor hotel twice, the Akron hotel, two dairies, a supermarket and two gasoline stations.

On probation for another robbery, the youth told detectives that he carried a gun in four of the hold-ups.

WELLES ASKS 'PEACE POLICE'

Calls For Cooperation of Allied Forces After War To Maintain Rights.

COLLEGE PARK, Md.—(U.R.)—Undersecretary of State Sumner Welles said today that American foreign policy must be based on what Americans believe to be their practical self-interest "not upon emotional altruism nor sentimental aspiration."

In an address to the graduating class of the University of Maryland, Welles:

Denounced isolationism of the last generation as a major factor in causing World war II.

Reiterated President Roosevelt's "unconditional surrender" terms for the Axis.

Called for continued cooperation of the armies, navies and air forces of the United Nations after the war to assure maintenance of prosperity, peace, and the human rights and liberties in which all Americans believe.

Welles told the graduates that they who will have to do the fighting and working for total victory "must equally be called upon to share in the determination of the course which your government follows at the conclusion of the war."

"I doubt that many thinking men and women of today can fail to recognize the fact that if the United States had been willing a generation ago to bear its fair share of the responsibility for the maintenance of world order, the birth and fantastic growth of those forces which crystallized into Hitlerism and Fascism and aggressive Japanese militarism would have been far less possible."

Great hope has been kindled in the hearts of the conquered peoples of the world by the entrance of the United States into "this battle of freedom," he told the graduates. He said that that hope rests in part on the tremendous power of this nation, but it also rests "upon the moral character of the United States."

workers will participate in the canvass designed to cover all forms of "share-a-ride" driving not merely a program involving the transportation of industrial workers.

"Your's is a big task," Pugh told the workers, "because you represent the heart of civilian defense in your community. You are the salesmen in the front line of civilian defense and your job is selling people on the important work that must be done."

After the "share-a-ride" campaign is completed, Pugh pointed out that the next program will deal with a house to house explanation of point rationing. Other campaigns will follow in the order of their importance.

Neal, who is also executive secretary of the Ohio war transportation committee, emphasized how the initial campaign will work.

Short talks were given by R. O. Richards, chairman of the Mansfield war transportation committee, and Ray M. Calene, president of the Mansfield Chamber of Commerce.

Calene cited the "fine job that has been done by the factories in Mansfield," in connection with the share-a-ride campaign but added that the program "needs more support than it has had in the past from the general public."

Fred Tarbox, Neal's assistant, and Hal Bourland also of the state department of highways, bureau of public relations, were others from the state department attending the meeting.

Gives Soldiers Kits for Treating Their Snake Bites

TARPON SPRINGS, Fla.—(AP)—An unusual contribution to the war effort is being made by Paul Saunders, 30-year-old secretary of the Chamber of Commerce here.

He is now filling Army Medical corps orders for safety kits for protection of soldiers against snakebite in reptile infested areas.

Each kit, a hollow, moisture-proof plastic cylinder, contains the following:

A handy tourniquet to be placed above the point of the bite to shut off the flow of blood toward the heart; a small knife to make incisions around the wound, allowing it to bleed freely; a novel pump with which to draw off the blood infected by the rattler's bite; three types of pump openings to apply to different parts of the body, depending on the location of the bite; two ammonia capsules as a stimulant to counteract the nervous shock; two iodine swabs to disinfect the wound, and two boric bandages to be applied to cuts after blood is drawn from the infected area.

place of the gangster's reputed fortune.

The battered, slashed and burned body of Miss Carey, dubbed "queen of the dice girls," was found in her apartment by firemen Tuesday. She had been beaten with a blackjack and a rolling pin, her throat was slashed with a bread knife and her clothing set afire. Coroner's physicians, however, said she died from suffocation.

Latest development in the hunt for the slayer was announced by police with the discovery of a witness, Miss Jessie Lovrein, who occupied the ground floor apartment in the building where Miss Carey was slain.

Miss Lovrein, an invalid, told police she saw a man come down the rear stairs Tuesday afternoon, the day of the murder, carrying two women's coats over his arm. Two expensive fur coats, a mink and a sable, were missing from Miss Carey's wardrobe.

FISH AND GAME MEMBERS MAP THREE CONSERVATION PROJECTS

Three conservation projects, including the new government farm pond program, will be sponsored in the county this year by the Richland County Fish and Game association, it was announced last night at a meeting of the association in North Lake Park pavilion.

In addition to the pond program the association will conduct its wildlife conservation essay contest in the schools again this year and promote the planting of trees by Boy Scouts at Charles Mill lake.

The essay contest, which will get under way next month, will be in charge of a committee headed by John Friday.

Scouts in the Mansfield area plan to plant from seven to 10 thousand trees this year in the Charles Mill lake area, according to Gordon H. Ensminger, president of the Fish and Game association.

Ensminger said booklets giving instructions for the building of farm ponds will be made available to farmers through the association. The program will be financed jointly by the federal and state governments which are promoting it to provide fish on farms for food, to afford attractive surroundings for wildlife and boost the water level of the farming areas.

The county sportsman's group last night voted to request the League of Ohio Sportsmen, meeting in Columbus next Saturday, to pass a resolution urging government agencies to take immediate steps to restore the Pleasant Hill lake water level.

Ensminger told approximately 200 persons at the meeting last night that petitions bearing thousands of names are being turned in by sportsmen's organizations in Richland and surrounding counties who want the lake restored to its level of last summer.

Motion pictures of hunting and fishing trips and a Mexican bull fight were shown at the meeting by Jack Boyd, Galion sportsman.

DEMAND SHAKES PRICE LEVELS

Miners Seek Pay Increase of $1,000,000 Daily; WLB Appeals to Byrnes.

March 31. Contracts with anthracite operators expire a month later.

The government is expected to bend every effort to prevent another strike comparable to the recent one of anthracite miners, which paralyzed hard coal production.

Whether the 450,000 bituminous miners would strike if their wage demand is not met is a question troubling the WLB. The WLB does not wish to precipitate a strike, but it wants to adhere to the "little steel" yardstick although it can pierce that wage ceiling to grant added increases which it feels are justified by maladjustments or inequalities. WLB sources declined to speculate whether such increases would be legitimate in the miners' case.

Meanwhile, the UMW's policy on wage agreements for 90,000 anthracite miners is eagerly awaited. The union's policy committee last night directed the anthracite tridistrict convention to meet "at the earliest practical time" to formulate a wage demand. Asked whether that demand would be "less modest" than the one for soft coal workers, Lewis replied, "I know of no reason why it should be."

The bituminous miners' demand was just twice what had been anticipated. It had been rumored that increases of $1 a day for bituminous miners would be sought, along with $2-a-day raises for anthracite miners. On the basis of the bituminous demand, some sources predicted that an increase in excess of $2 would be proposed.

Bituminous operators from north and south are scheduled to meet separately with UMW representatives on March 14 in New York. Lewis said last night, however, that he would attempt to arrange a national conference prior to that date to speed negotiations.

JAP MILITARY LEADER DIES

Hayashi, Premier in 1937, Succumbs at 67.

(By Associated Press)

The death of General Senjuro Hayashi, 67, premier of Japan in 1937 and one of the most powerful of Japanese military leaders, was announced today in a Tokyo broadcast by the Berlin radio and recorded by the Associated Press.

Hayashi was president of the East Asia league, established two years ago to further Japanese exploitation of conquered territories.

He played a part in 1931 in the beginning of the conquest of Manchuria. Then commander of the Korea garrison, he sent some of his troops across the border into Manchuria without awaiting orders from Tokyo.

their activities to the new dual time standard which will result, and there was no criticism voiced of the governor's stand.

In the senate there are at least seven votes which will remain against a time change in the Akron and Cleveland delegations. This would leave a maximum of 26 votes for the time change. Those seeking to kill the emergency clause in the measure need obtain only five of these 26 votes to delay the effective date of war time until May.

In the house, however, the Akron and Cleveland delegations are not in such proportionate strength. There are 18 Cleveland area representatives and five from Akron, as well as three from Youngstown. Even as a body the delegation from these three industrial areas represents only a small portion of the 135-member house.

HOCKEY LEAGUE HEAD DIES

Discovery Of Essen Cache Hints Revolt Among Workers.

STOCKHOLM—(AP)—A German newspaper dispatch disclosed today that rifles, pistols and other military equipment of both German and foreign manufacture had been found hidden in attics of Essen, indicating an underground anti-Nazi movement among workers in that arsenal city.

The Essen police chief, in a statement printed by the Essener National Zeitung Jan. 27, hinted that a widespread drive to stamp out opposition elements was imminent.

SAYS ACCUSERS WANT FREEDOM

Attorney Charges Girls In Flynn Case Admitted Criminal Actions.

(By Associated Press)

LOS ANGELES—Errol Flynn's lawyer today resumes his argument for the actor's acquittal after charging that the two teenage girls who accuse Flynn of statutory rape had themselves admitted acts for which they could be prosecuted, and thus had found it expedient to testify for the state.

Defense Attorney Jerry Giesler yesterday ripped into the testimony of Betty Hansen, 17, former Lincoln, Neb., girl, who charges Flynn was intimate with her in an upstairs bedroom of a Bel-Air house last Sept. 27 after a dinner party.

"Her story isn't worthy of consideration," Giesler told the jury. "She was the most uncertain, suppositious, vague individual I have ever seen in a courtroom. And in testifying, she has one of the strongest motives in the world—she wants her freedom.

"Betty Hansen testified that she admitted before the grand jury acts of sex perversion. She knew it was a crime, and had hopes of not being prosecuted."

He declared her testimony was so "weak, flimsy and absurd" that Flynn's prosecutors "knew they had to have Peggy Satterlee or they couldn't get to first base."

Miss Satterlee, 16-year-old Hollywood showgirl, accuses the actor of molesting her twice on his yacht during a cruise to Catalina island in August, 1941.

He said Miss Satterlee, too, had a motive in testifying.

"Before she was taken into protective custody last October—and since then pampered, petted and coddled—she knew she had participated in a criminal act," said Giesler, referring to the prosecution's stipulation during the trial that she had an abortion in the summer of 1942.

"Additionally, she had at heart the protection of a man equally involved who could be prosecuted two ways—for abortion and rape.

LOS ANGELES (INS)—An itinerant cowhand who has been a hobo since childhood, today confessed to the knife murder of Barlow V. Bowen, 26, former army officer whose nude body was found stabbed 20 times in a dormitory at Claremont college.

Robert Harrington, 20, roving shoemaker and cowboy, was arrested in the shadow of a Los Angeles jail. Still wearing his bloodstained western garb, Harrington readily admitted having stabbed Bowen to death following a drinking bout in the victim's bedroom.

HITLER PEACE MOVES HINTED

London Expects Development. Hears Rumania and Finland Near Cracking Point.

lated reports that Spain had been chosen as a peacemaker.

There were reports in London recently that Hitler's new ambassador to Spain, Dr. Hans Adolf Von Moltke, carried to Madrid a proposal that Franco act as an intermediary, but these lacked any substantiation and attracted little attention.

But today, with the Allies pledged to hammer the Axis into unconditional surrender, with Germany shocked by the Stalingrad disaster and facing something similar in the Caucasus, the neutral sources suggested there seemed to be more cause for Hitler to seek a compromise now than on Jan. 12, when Von Moltke went to Madrid.

Indications that peace rumors are sweeping the conquered lands of Europe were seen in reports passing through the Spanish censorship that the bottom had dropped out of the Paris black market because of a widespread feeling that the war would end soon.

Dispatches from Stockholm said Finland also was being mentioned in connection with peace offensives. They asserted the Finns had given broad hints that they would like to be out of the war.

Finland, Rumania Cracking Up, Report

LONDON — (U.P.) — Rumania and Finland, at the southern and northern extremities of the front on which Germany attacked Russia so confidently in June, 1941, showed signs today that they were nearing the cracking point.

A United Press Ankara dispatch revealed that Hamdullah Suphi Tanriover, Turkish minister to Rumania, had suddenly returned home after an interview with Marshal Ion Antonescu, the Rumanian dictator, and reported that he was believed to have taken with him a peace feeler which he hoped Turkey would transmit to the United Nations.

Stockholm dispatches reported that Finland, starving and long insistent that Germany must send it more food if it was to hold out, was seething with anger over a statement made last Saturday by Field Marshal Hermann Goering that Russia's winter war of 1939 on Finland was only a bluff, and it was indicated that soon there might be additional repercussions.

Spanish Embassies Told To Deny Reports

BUENOS AIRES — (AP) — Diplomatic quarters east about today for the reasons which impelled the Spanish government to instruct its embassies in Rio De Janeiro and Santiago to deny last night that Adolf Hitler had asked Generalissimo Francisco Franco to act as intermediary in a peace proposal.

Some observers saw the move as an indication of apprehension on the part of Spain lest her prestige in South America be compromised by suspicions that she was ready to serve as a Nazi catspaw.

The statement issued by the Spanish embassy in Rio De Janeiro and Santiago did not specify where the Hitler peace offer reports were published. Certainly such reports have not attracted much attention in Argentina.

A Reuters dispatch from Ankara today quoted a German report as saying the Finnish minister to Berlin had advised the Germans that Finland might have to consider a separate peace with Russia unless she gets urgently needed food supplies.

AXIS FACE RED 'DUNKERQUE' IN SOUTH RUSSIA

250,000 Troops Attempting To Escape Caucasus By Sea; RAF Blasts Hamburg.

indicating there had been no major break through the tough Nazi perimeter of defenses guarding the Tunis-Bizerte zone.

To the south, German military quarters reported Nazi vanguards near Sened, 165 miles below Tunis, had fallen back "to parry an enveloping thrust by superior American forces."

The Germans also declared U. S. troops struck in a daylong attack on both sides of strategic Faid Pass, 50 miles north of Sened, after bringing up "a new division equipped with the most modern weapons, supported by a tank brigade."

Nazi quarters asserted the attacks were repulsed after violent fighting.

Both Sened and the Faid Pass dominate the approaches to the port of Sfax, vital link in the escape corridor of Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's retreating armies from Libya.

While Lieut.-Gen. Dwight E. Eisenhower's headquarters remained virtually noncommittal on Axis reports of a developing Allied offensive in Tunisia, French headquarters said sharp fighting was in progress in the mountains between Ousseltia and Kairouan.

Allied troops in the Ousseltia-Kairouan sector were directing a threat to the gulf port of Sousse, 75 miles below Tunis.

On th Libyan front, Allied dispatches indicated Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery's British Eighth army was striking out in a flanking maneuver, circling around Marshal Rommel's forces to the south to cut in behind the French-built Mareth (little Maginot) line in Tunisia, in preference to a frontal attack.

This strategy appeared to be borne out, in part, by a British communique reporting "our patrols were active in all sectors."

British Eighth army troops were last reported attacking Rommel's rearguards in the vicinity of Pisida, on the coastal road 12 miles east of the Tunisian frontier.

In the Russian campaign, the threat to Hitler's armies below Rostov dominated a picture of cascading triumphs by the Red armies along a 600-mile front.

London heard that Russia's Black sea fleet and Soviet planes were pounding Nazi transports below the narrow Kerch strait, which separates the Caucasus from the Crimea, and the Berlin radio significantly noted the Germans still controlled two escape bridgeheads—one on the Kerch strait, the other the Don delta below Rostov.

In the western air war, the British listed 16 planes as missing after a smashing overnight attack on Hamburg—the second raid there in five nights and the second attack on Germany in 24 hours — while the Nazis claimed only 12 planes shot down.

The British air ministry said the port city was heavily attacked and "large fires were left burning."

REACH MADRID

U. S. Paratroopers Who Landed in Spain Are To Be Freed.

LONDON—(AP)—The Berlin radio asserted today that 15 United States parachute troopers who landed by mistake in Spanish Morocco have arrived in Madrid by air from Melilla under guard.

It broadcast the following, datelined Madrid: "It is stated that they will be escorted to the Portuguese frontier within the next few days." They suggested that the soldiers might be released.

YOUTH HELD

Admits Series Of Robberies In Akron Recently.

AKRON—(INS)—A 16-year-old youth was held today by juvenile authorities after admitting several robberies in the city within the past few months. Identified by 12 witnesses, the youth admitted to police that he held up the Taylor hotel twice, the Akron hotel, two dairies, a supermarket and two gasoline stations.

On probation for another robbery, the youth told detectives that he carried a gun in four of the hold-ups.

Vandegrift Honored For Heroic Command At Guadalcanal.

WASHINGTON—(AP)—President Roosevelt today presented the Congressional Medal of Honor to Major Gen. Alexander A. Vandegrift of the marines, for "outstanding and heroic accomplishments" under adverse conditions against Japanese forces in the Solomon islands.

General Vandegrift commanded the marines on Guadalcanal until they recently were relieved by army forces.

Below is a picture of Field Marshal Friedrich Paulus, right, commander of the Nazi Sixth army, who surrendered. He is being questioned by Col. Gen. Constantin Rokossovsky, left, commander of the Russian troops on the Don front; Marshal N. N. Voronov, second from left, representative of the supreme command, and Major Dyatlenko, an interpreter. Paulus was elevated to a field marshal by Hitler the same day he surrendered to the Russians. Axis generals pictured top are, left to right: Brig. Gen. Dimitriu; Lieut. Gen. von Daniel, Lieut. Gen. Schlemmer, Maj. Gen. Moritz von Drebber, and Lieut. Gen. Otto Rinoldi.

WELLES ASKS 'PEACE POLICE'

Calls For Cooperation of Allied Forces After War To Maintain Rights.

COLLEGE PARK, Md.—(U.P.)—Undersecretary of State Sumner Welles said today that American foreign policy must be based on what Americans believe to be their practical self-interest—"not upon emotional altruism nor sentimental aspiration."

In an address to the graduating class of the University of Maryland, Welles:

Denounced isolationism of the last generation as a major factor in causing World war II.

Reiterated President Roosevelt's "unconditional surrender" terms for the Axis.

Called for continued cooperation of the armies, navies and air forces of the United Nations after the war to assure maintenance of prosperity, peace, and the human rights and liberties in which all Americans believe.

Welles told the graduates that they who will have to do the fighting and working for total victory "must equally be called upon to share in the determination of the course which your government follows at the conclusion of the war."

"I doubt that many thinking men and women of today can fail to recognize the fact that if the United States had been willing a generation ago to bear its fair share of the responsibility for the maintenance of world order, its birth and fantastic growth of those forces which crystallized into Hitlerism and Fascism and aggressive Japanese militarism would have been far less possible."

Great hope has been kindled in the hearts of the conquered peoples of the world by the entrance of the United States into "this battle of freedom," he told the graduates. He said that that hope rests in part on the tremendous power of this nation, but it also rests "upon the moral character of the United States."

workers will participate in the canvass designed to cover all forms of "share-a-ride" driving not merely a program involving the transportation of industrial workers.

"Your's is a big task," Pugh told the workers, "because you represent the heart of civilian defense in your community. You are the salesmen in the front line of civilian defense and your job is selling people on the important work that must be done."

After the "share-a-ride" campaign is completed, Pugh pointed out that the next program will deal with a house to house explanation of point rationing. Other campaigns will follow in the order of their importance.

Neal, who is also executive secretary of the Ohio war transportation committee, emphasized how the initial campaign will work.

Short talks were given by R. O. Richards, chairman of the Mansfield war transportation committee, and Ray M. Calene, president of the Mansfield Chamber of Commerce.

Calene cited the "fine job that has been done by the factories in Mansfield," in connection with the share-a-ride campaign but added that the program "needs more support than it has had in the past from the general public."

Fred Tarbox, Neal's assistant, and Hal Bourland also of the state department of highways, bureau of public relations, were others from the state department attending the meeting.

Gives Soldiers Kits for Treating Their Snake Bites

TARPON SPRINGS, Fla.—(AP)—An unusual contribution to the war effort is being made by Paul Saunders, 30-year-old secretary of the Chamber of Commerce here.

He is now filling Army Medical corps orders for safety kits for protection of soldiers against snakebite in reptile infested areas.

Each kit, a hollow, moisture-proof plastic cylinder, contains the following:

A handy tourniquet to be placed above the point of the bite to shut off the flow of blood toward the heart; a small knife to make incisions around the wound, allowing it to bleed freely; a novel pump with which to draw off the blood infected by the rattler's bite; three types of pump openings to apply to different parts of the body, depending on the location of the bite; two ammonia capsules as a stimulant to counteract the nervous shock; two iodine swabs to disinfect the wound, and two boric bandages to be applied to cuts after blood is drawn from the infected area.

plare of the gangster's reputed fortune.

The battered, slashed and burned body of Miss Carey, dubbed "queen of the dice girls," was found in her apartment by firemen Tuesday. She had been beaten with a blackjack and a rolling pin, her throat was slashed with a bread knife and her clothing set afire. Coroner's physicians, however, said she died from suffocation.

Latest development in the hunt for the slayer was announced by police with the discovery of a witness, Miss Jessie Lovrein, who occupied the ground floor apartment in the building where Miss Carey was slain.

Miss Lovrein, an invalid, told police she saw a man come down the rear stairs Tuesday afternoon, the day of the murder, carrying two women's coats over his arm. Two expensive fur coats, a mink and a sable, were missing from Miss Carey's wardrobe.

MARIHUANA FOUND

CLEVELAND—(AP)—Traces of marihuana in the cuffs and pockets of Domenico Azzalini's trousers led to his conviction in federal district court on charges of failing to pay federal taxes on 50 pounds of the narcotic weed. Judge Emerich B. Freed sentenced the defendant to a year and a day in prison.

FISH AND GAME MEMBERS MAP THREE CONSERVATION PROJECTS

Three conservation projects, including the new government farm pond program, will be sponsored in Richland county this year by the Richland County Fish and Game association, it was announced last night at a meeting of the association in North Lake Park pavilion.

In addition to the pond program the association will conduct its wildlife conservation essay contest in the schools again this year and promote the planting of trees by Boy Scouts at Charles Mill lake.

The essay contest, which will get under way next month, will be in charge of a committee headed by John Friday.

Scouts in the Mansfield area plan to plant from seven to 10 thousand trees this year in the Charles Mill lake area, according to Gordon H. Ensminger, president of the Fish and Game association.

Ensminger said booklets giving instructions for the building of farm ponds will be made available to farmers through the association. The program will be financed jointly by the federal and state governments which are promoting it to provide fish on farms for food, to afford attractive surroundings for wildlife and boost the water level of the farming areas.

The county sportsman's group last night voted to request the League of Ohio Sportsmen, meeting in Columbus next Saturday, to pass a resolution urging government agencies to take immediate steps to restore the Pleasant Hill lake water level.

Ensminger told approximately 200 persons at the meeting last night that petitions bearing thousands of names are being turned in by sportsmen's organizations in Richland and surrounding counties who want the lake restored to its level of last summer.

Motion pictures of hunting and fishing trips and a Mexican bull fight were shown at the meeting by Jack Boyd, Galion sportsman.

DEMAND SHAKES PRICE LEVELS

Miners Seek Pay Increase of $1,000,000 Daily; WLB Appeals to Byrnes.

March 31. Contracts with anthracite operators expire a month later.

The government is expected to bend every effort to prevent another strike comparable to the recent one of anthracite miners, which paralyzed hard coal production.

Whether the 450,000 bituminous miners would strike if their wage demand is not met is a question troubling the WLB. The WLB does not wish to precipitate a strike, but it wants to adhere to the "little steel" yardstick although it can pierce that wage ceiling to grant added increases which it feels are justified by maladjustments or inequalities. WLB sources declined to speculate whether such increases would be legitimate in the miners' case.

Meanwhile, the UMW's policy on wage agreements for 90,000 anthracite miners is eagerly awaited. The union's policy committee last night directed the anthracite tridistrict convention to meet "at the earliest practical time" to formulate a wage demand. Asked whether that demand would be "less modest" than the one for soft coal workers, Lewis replied, "I know of no reason why it should be."

The bituminous miners' demand was just twice what had been anticipated. It had been rumored that increases of $1 a day for bituminous miners would be sought, along with $2-a-day raises for anthracite miners. On the basis of the bituminous demand, some sources predicted that an increase in excess of $2 would be proposed.

Bituminous operators from north and south are scheduled to meet separately with UMW representatives on March 14 in New York. Lewis said last night, however, that he would attempt to arrange a national conference prior to that date to speed negotiations.

JAP MILITARY LEADER DIES

Hayashi, Premier in 1937, Succumbs at 67.

(By Associated Press)

The death of General Senjuro Hayashi, 67, premier of Japan in 1937 and one of the most powerful of Japanese military leaders, was announced today in a Tokyo broadcast by the Berlin radio and recorded by the Associated Press.

Hayashi was president of the East Asia league, established two years ago to further Japanese exploitation of conquered territories.

He played a part in 1931 in the beginning of the conquest of Manchuria. Then commander of the Korea garrison, he sent some of his troops across the border into Manchuria without awaiting orders from Tokyo.

their activities to the new dual time standard which will result, and there was no criticism voiced of the governor's stand.

In the senate there are at least seven votes which will remain against a time change in the Akron and Cleveland delegations. This would leave a maximum of 26 votes for the time change. Those seeking to kill the emergency clause in the measure need obtain only five of these 26 votes to delay the effective date of war time until May.

In the house, however, the Akron and Cleveland delegations are not in such proportionate strength. There are 18 Cleveland area representatives and five from Akron, as well as three from Youngstown. Even as a body the delegation from these three industrial areas represents only a small portion of the 135-member house.

HOCKEY LEAGUE HEAD DIES

Discovery Of Essen Cache Hints Revolt Among Workers.

STOCKHOLM—(AP)—A German newspaper dispatch disclosed today that rifles, pistols and other military equipment of both German and foreign manufacture had been found hidden in attics of Essen, indicating an underground anti-Nazi movement among workers in that arsenal city.

The Essen police chief, in a statement printed by the Essener National Zeitung Jan. 27, hinted that a widespread drive to stamp out opposition elements was imminent.

SAYS ACCUSERS WANT FREEDOM

Attorney Charges Girls In Flynn Case Admitted Criminal Actions.

(By Associated Press)

LOS ANGELES—Errol Flynn's lawyer today resumes his argument for the actor's acquittal after charging that the two teenage girls who accuse Flynn of statutory rape had themselves admitted acts for which they could be prosecuted, and thus had found it expedient to testify for the state.

Defense Attorney Jerry Giesler yesterday ripped into the testimony of Betty Hansen, 17, former Lincoln, Neb., girl, who charges Flynn was intimate with her in an upstairs bedroom of a Bel-Air house last Sept. 27 after a dinner party.

"Her story isn't worthy of consideration," Giesler told the jury. "She was the most uncertain, suppositious, vague individual I have ever seen in a courtroom. And in testifying, she has one of the strongest motives in the world—she wants her freedom.

"Betty Hansen testified that she admitted before the grand jury acts of sex perversion. She knew it was a crime, and had hopes of not being prosecuted."

He declared her testimony was so "weak, flimsy and absurd" that Flynn's prosecutors "knew they had to have Peggy Satterlee or they couldn't get to first base."

Miss Satterlee, 16-year-old Hollywood showgirl, accuses the actor of molesting her twice on his yacht during a cruise to Catalina island in August, 1941.

He said Miss Satterlee, too, had a motive in testifying.

"Before she was taken into protective custody last October—and since then pampered, petted and coddled—she knew she had participated in a criminal act," said Giesler, referring to the prosecution's stipulation during the trial that she had an abortion in the summer of 1942.

"Additionally, she had at heart the protection of a man equally involved who could be prosecuted two ways—for abortion and rape.

Cowhand Confesses He Stabbed Ex-Officer 20 Times.

LOS ANGELES—(INS)—An itinerant cowhand who has been a hobo since childhood, today confessed to the knife murder of Barlow V. Bowen, 26, former army officer whose nude body was found stabbed 20 times in a dormitory at Claremont college.

Robert Harrington, 20, roving shoemaker and cowboy, was arrested in the shadow of a Los Angeles jail. Still wearing his bloodstained western garb, Harrington readily admitted having stabbed Bowen to death following a drinking bout in the victim's bedroom.

There was no Allied confirmation of these claims. Santa Isabel island is one of the Solomons and lies north of Guadalcanal.

Japs Resist Strongly In Northwest Burma

NEW DELHI—(INS)—Japanese forces in the Rathedaung and Donbaik areas of northwest Burma were reported officially today to be putting up strong resistance to attack by British-Indian forces.

The Japs are well dug in at their defense positions, a communique from the India command said.

Considerable aerial activity over the battle area was reported.

Saved Day With Jap Sword

Sergt. Theodore Cogswell, pictured fondling his sub-machine gun, saw three Marines giving ground before a Jap force on Guadalcanal, rushed up shouting, "Don't do that. Remember you are Marines." When the Japs attacked again, Sergeant Cogswell bayoneted a Jap officer, grabbed his sword and, swinging it over his head, led a successful counter-attack, putting the enemy to flight.

HITLER PEACE MOVES HINTED

London Expects Development, Hears Rumania and Finland Near Cracking Point.

lated reports that Spain had been chosen as a peacemaker.

There were reports in London recently that Hitler's new ambassador to Spain, Dr. Hans Adolf Von Moltke, carried to Madrid a proposal that Franco act as an intermediary, but these lacked any substantiation and attracted little attention.

But today, with the Allies pledged to hammer the Axis into unconditional surrender, with Germany shocked by the Stalingrad disaster and facing something similar in the Caucasus, the neutral sources suggested there seemed to be more cause for Hitler to seek a compromise now than on Jan. 12, when Von Moltke went to Madrid.

Indications that peace rumors are sweeping the conquered lands of Europe were seen in reports passing through the Spanish censorship that the bottom had dropped out of the Paris black market because of a widespread feeling that the war would end soon.

Dispatches from Stockholm said Finland also was being mentioned in connection with peace offensives. They asserted the Finns had given broad hints that they would like to be out of the war.

Finland, Rumania Cracking Up, Report

LONDON—(U.P.)—Rumania and Finland, at the southern and northern extremities of the front on which Germany attacked Russia so confidently in June, 1941, showed signs today that they were nearing the cracking point.

A United Press Ankara dispatch revealed that Hamdullah Suphi Tanriover, Turkish minister to Rumania, had suddenly returned home after an interview with Marshal Ion Antonescu, the Rumanian dictator, and reported that he was believed to have taken with him a peace feeler which he hoped Turkey would transmit to the United Nations.

Stockholm dispatches reported that Finland, starving and long insistent that Germany must send it more food if it was to hold out, was seething with anger over a statement made last Saturday by Field Marshal Hermann Goering that Russia's winter war of 1939 on Finland was only a bluff, and it was indicated that soon there might be additional repercussions.

Spanish Embassies Told To Deny Reports

BUENOS AIRES—(AP)—Diplomatic quarters cast about today for the reasons which impelled the Spanish government to instruct its embassies in Rio De Janeiro and Santiago to deny last night that Adolf Hitler had asked Generalissimo Francisco Franco to act as intermediary in a peace proposal.

Some observers saw the move as an indication of apprehension on the part of Spain lest her prestige in South America be compromised by suspicions that she was ready to serve as a Nazi catspaw.

The statement issued by the Spanish embassy in Rio De Janeiro and Santiago did not specify where the Hitler peace offer reports were published. Certainly such reports have not attracted much attention in Argentina.

A Reuters dispatch from Ankara today quoted a German report as saying the Finnish minister to Berlin had advised the Germans that Finland might have to consider a separate peace with Russia unless she gets urgently needed food supplies.

Changed working conditions for women have created a demand for a different type of clothing. The added space will enable us to stock work clothes in addition to giving our customers a wider selection in the items we have carried in the past.

So that we may open our enlarged store with a complete stock of new merchandise, we have greatly reduced the price of every winter coat. Our entire stock of new spring coats, dresses and accessories will be sold at 10% discount.

This sale, beginning tomorow, will run during the remodeling. We hope in this way to compensate our customers for the inconvenience the alterations will cause.

It will be our aim in the future, as it has been in the past, to give the best values and styles obtainable in our price range.

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

MANSFIELD, OHIO, THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 4, 1943.

Congress should at least be credited for effort, in trying to make income tax paying easy.

Young daughter in an Oklahoma family was left behind when their trailer went on—thus qualifying for an oddity in the news: "Home leaves girl."

It may be difficult to make some folks understand that the rationing coupons do not entitle them to the food and that they have to pay money besides.

Submarines Bolster Axis Hopes

NOW THAT the United Nations have reached a stage in the war at which land and air supremacy over the enemy is being demonstrated, more attention is being paid to the problem of dealing with Axis submarines, which constitute an unending menace to vital Allied shipping.

During the early months of United States action in the war it may have been enough to say that ship construction was "catching up" with losses resulting from U-boat attacks, but this falls far short of what must be accomplished before the United Nations can hope to provide the volume of transportation needed to win either the European or the Asiatic phases of the war.

When it is considered that 10,414,000 tons of army cargo were shipped overseas during 1942 and that probably double that amount will be needed this year, the importance of greatly reducing enemy submarine activities is better realized.

According to Yates Stirling, jr., retired rear admiral of the U. S. navy, writing for the United Press, "thousands of anti-submarine vessels are needed as escorts for convoyed shipments," which are sometimes attacked by a U-boat "pack" of from 25 to 50 submarines.

"Other American production should be sacrificed," Admiral Stirling suggests, "until the submarine menace is licked, to produce these anti-submarine vessels, for all other production of the arsenal of democracy will be of little avail if it is sunk."

There has been an apparent effort thus far to minimize the real seriousness of the submarine situation in the Atlantic, but with prospects of intended Nazi intensification of this form of warfare the time has come to concentrate attention on destruction of enemy submarines in their construction yards and operating bases as well as at sea.

Two-Way Co-operation Necessary

GOVERNMENT authorities have asked producers and distributors to co-operate to the maximum of their ability in the task of supplying necessities to civilians and military personnel. They have been told that they must also prepare to supply these necessities to other nations, all from the resources of the United States. This is a big order. It can only be fulfilled if co-operation comes from both sides, from the government as well as from the private citizen. It cannot be fulfilled if the private citizen is threatened with jail every time he makes a mistake. It cannot be fulfilled unless common sense is a part of government policy.

An example of how to create more chaos recently came to light in the nation's capital. A large department store has been named defendant by the Office of Price Administration in legal proceedings for alleged violation of price regulations. In view of the facts, the question of whether the store was actually guilty is more or less academic.

According to news reports, the store's price bureau now has on hand three bound volumes of price regulations which total 13,423 pages of closely printed, small-type text, and contain an estimated 11,275,000 words. The store is now spending more than $40,000 a year in direct costs to maintain its own "price compliance" bureau. This bureau has 27 full-time employes.

Working full time in addition to these, is a mimeograph operator who in the last six weeks has turned out 50,000 forms.

The manager of this store voices the views of thousands of other retail merchants throughout the country in saying: "We are not antagonistic toward the price ceiling, nor do we want to be arrayed against the OPA"—all that is asked is a common-sense plan, reasonably enforced.

Beverstock and the Auto Club

REMEMBERING the start-off of the Richland County Automobile club, when automobiles were few and road-improvement between Mansfield and neighboring towns was uppermost in mind, it will seem odd not to think of Frank Beverstock as secretary-manager of that organization.

Presidents and other officers of the Auto club have come and gone with the passing years, but, like Tennyson's brook, it has seemed that Frank would "go on forever."

It's that way with some people—they are so interested in their work, and they do it so well, that they are kept on the job indefinitely, and it became a standardized form in reporting annual meetings of the Auto club to say: "Frank Beverstock was re-elected secretary."

Now it's "back to the farm" for Frank, and his many friends will sincerely hope that he will pleasantly combine rural tasks and urban pastimes for many years to come.

And, by the way, the Auto club is fortunate to have so capable and experienced a man as Jack Berger to advance into the position held by Mr. Beverstock for almost a quarter of a century.

Exchange Savings Stamps for Bond

GOOD INTENTIONS are OK, as far as they go—but they don't accomplish much unless they are carried through.

As, for instance, in the matter of starting to buy war savings stamps and then stopping before the book is filled and exchanged for a bond.

The stamps are provided merely as a convenient partial-payment plan for buying a bond and should be converted into interest-bearing bonds as quickly as possible.

A part of this month's bond-selling campaign is being devoted to a "clear-up" of outstanding, partially-filled stamp books. Do you have one that should be filled and exchanged for a bond?

Now it's a shortage of cigarets that is threatened—and, who knows, maybe it'll be necessary to walk two miles.

Living costs go up—so wages go up—so living costs go up . . . and then you have inflation.

Morocco has come a long way since it was known only as a higher-priced book cover.

ADOLF GOES NAPOLEON ONE BETTER

What If F.D.R. Declines 4th Term?

—By CARTER FIELD

WASHINGTON—It is the general assumption in political circles that President Roosevelt will seek a fourth term. But while this is generally believed, by both Democrats and Republicans that does not stop talk among the Democrats of candidates other than the president "just in case" he should not run.

It is no secret that James A. Farley still cherishes presidential ambitions, but it is even better known that FDR would take no pleasure in seeing his old lieutenant named in his place. He has never forgiven "Jim" for not being for him for a third term, and it is not of record that he has ever forgiven anyone he regarded as having turned against him. To the president's mind, that smacks of treason.

In fact, he has forgiven few if any that he even suspected of being against him for the nomination, back in 1932. That is the primary reason why the best equipped and ablest man for the whole preparedness job, Bernard M. Baruch, has never been given a chance to show what he could do.

As a matter of fact, it happens, Baruch took no step to militate against FDR's nomination in 1932. He did not even say, to his closest friends, whom he preferred. But Roosevelt knew that Baruch was a close friend of Albert C. Ritchie, then governor of Maryland, and he suspected Baruch of secretly helping Ritchie.

THERE ARE, it must be admitted, some other reasons why the most logical man for the job was never appointed, but this one is enough, and reflects less on the president than any of the others.

The accepted opinion among Democratic leaders is that if FDR does not take the nomination himself, he would prefer Vice President Henry A. Wallace. They recall how Roosevelt forced the nomination of Wallace on the 1940 convention, which wanted no part of the Iowa publisher.

But things have happened since then. Nothing particularly has happened to strengthen the enthusiasm, or eliminate the lack of it, for Wallace on the part of what might be called the organization Democrats. But another man has arisen, in whom the rank and file of the Democrats have great confidence, and for whom many of them cherish personal affection.

This is James Byrnes, now "assistant president" and before that a justice of the Supreme Court and a senator from South Carolina.

"Jimmy" could be nominated by a Democratic convention, if he had Roosevelt's blessing, without a whimper. In fact he would beat anybody else by a mile. Some go further and say that, assuming the president would not take a fourth term himself, Byrnes could be nominated no matter whom the president wanted. This is going a bit strong, it would seem, but it shows what some of the Democrats think.

The one thing nobody knows is what the president would really like. All of which is set forth to show what folks in Washington are saying and thinking. Actually the writer believes it is academic, as the president will want a fourth term.

Listen World!

Two War Brides

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

AL AND EDNA were married last year. Tomorrow Al starts for camp. And Edna is going to follow him around the circle as long as she can.

Everyone says how brave Edna is. Look how she kept her job and saved her money during the three years they were engaged and all the time they were married. That helped Al a lot. He's a hard worker but they couldn't have paid nearly so much down on their cottage and new furniture if Edna hadn't been such a good sport.

And now, just when everything is going beautifully and their debts are half paid, she is making another Tremendous Sacrifice . . . she's giving it all up to follow Al. Already she has turned in their coupe for a trailer and fixed it up with the cutest little gadgets, so that Al can "come back to a real home" no matter where he's stationed, until he's sent over seas.

After that? Well, Edna refuses to think of "after that." The pain's too deep. She knows she has smashed her future. They'll lose the bungalow, of course, and the installment furniture. Chances are there'll be no job to come back to and it will be slim pickings on Al's allowance.

"But we'll have each other while we can," sighs Edna. And the whole town pities and lauds her—Al included. Once in a while, though, Al wonders secretly to himself if things wouldn't be better if she'd let him go alone. The whole war business it's a mess. But if he went alone he might get in with the other fellows. Have some fun. And there'd be Home to think about and the plans they made when they first married. It would be keen having something to come home to. But now they'll have to start all over again and somehow Al wonders.

RITA doesn't wonder. Rita and Jim married about the same time as Edna and Al, live in the same small town. Rita and Edna both have jobs. Jim goes out on the same day as Al. But Rita isn't following him in a trailer.

"I know," says Rita, "some people say I'm not sentimental but I love Jim as much as any woman could. It's just that I think there are better ways of proving your love than by following a man around, spoiling the chances he has of getting a good break in army life and sacrificing all you've been able to save together.

"Edna's a swell kid and she is doing what she thinks right. But I don't see things her way. I hate war as much as she does, but if we must have it, I'm going to protect my Jim as much as I can. I'm going to go on working and protecting all he hopes to come back to."

So there you have two ideals of love. Edna's and Rita's. Edna, who believes in being a Gypsy Lover no matter what the cost . . . and Rita who is determined to see her marriage through and save her home regardless of the loneliness it entails.

And believe me, it's a problem. If you don't agree, go to any training camp and investigate the cheap apartments, motor hotels and trailers that encircle them. Here, in brief, snatched hours, one of the greatest tragedies of war is being played out. Here are the lovers who have thrown away Past and Future for a few pitiful hours of present bliss.

Or is it bliss?

Edna thinks it is—and doesn't stop to wonder if Al agrees. Or what will happen when it all is over.

Rita thinks it isn't and turns her brave eyes resolutely against the gypsy trail, the while she plunks down her installment payments.

Well, what's YOUR vote? We're waiting to hear it and print it.

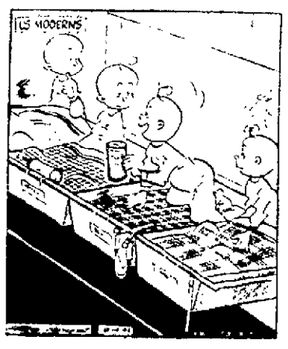
LIFE'S LIKE THAT



"It's not for any foreign relief . . . It's to help pay my bill here!"

Dave Boone Says:

I FIGURE most men in the United States today are busy studying that list of non-essential jobs and businesses and arguing over the classifications. I see dish-washing is ruled to be non-essential. The fellow who made that rule hasn't looked into many kitchen sinks lately.

* * *

Fortune tellers, astrologists and mind readers are ordered to get into some war job right away, too. Well, there's not much excuse for them being surprised. If they couldn't see ahead nobody could.

"Gambling" is also listed among non-essential industries. I guess that means the gin rummy players are going to be put into necessary work.

Greeting card composers and workers must also shift to war work. They deserve punishment.

* * *

But I don't know about tending bar being unnecessary. I wish they'd go easy on the bartenders and take the boss, who sets the prices they have to get for the drinks.

Timely Editorial

Britannica Changes Hands.

An intriguing recent news item detailed the transfer as an outright gift of the Encyclopedia Britannica from Sears, Roebuck and Co. to the University of Chicago. Probably few persons were aware that one of the most scholarly compendiums of knowledge in print, British in history, tradition and tone, and bearing a foreign name was, in fact, published by an American mail order house.

The Britannica originated in Scotland in 1768 and, in the intervening years, appeared in 15 editions. Some of its notable articles were written a century or more ago by writers whose own works are now classic. Others are up-to-the-minute and modern in their scope and authority.

In 1920, ownership of the Britannica passed to Sears, Roebuck and Co. as a sequel to disturbed post-war business conditions, publication being undertaken by them as a praiseworthy gesture toward preventing the disappearance of a project of high value to the cultural, educational and scholarly world.—Columbus Dispatch.

Stalin's Absence Still Puzzling; Postwar Complications Pondered

—By CHARLES P. STEWART

DESPITE official representations that Premier Josef Stalin's and Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek's absence from President Roosevelt's and Prime Minister Churchill's recent confab at Casablanca was of no consequence, there is considerable worrying about it in Washington; maybe also in London.

Chiang perhaps would have had serious difficulty in geting from Chungking to the scene of the North African discussion. It would not have been a very difficult trip by air for Stalin, however. Moreover, he was rather abrupt in his explanation that he was "too busy" to bother with it, giving the impression that he did not regard it as of any great importance.

Anyway, Joe or Chiang, either or both, could have been represented by deputy. Why weren't they?

Chiang is not really suspected of anything but having his hands overly full with the Japs to give attention to occasional distractions of a not immediately military nature. He is assessed, too, as a genuine democrat—post-war as well as at present.

Comrade Stalin is much more of a puzzle.

He will fight, as he has demonstrated—but what will be his later attitude?

The democracies have hoped that wartime association with them would convert the Soviets to democratic principles. Now they are apprehensive that Joe has served notice on them to the contrary.

They still do not doubt that "unconditional surrender" of the Axis is his motto. However, he apparently insists on "unconditional surrender" upon HIS terms instead of those of the United Nations generally. In short, he evidently is as Communistic as ever. That was what democratic statesmanship was trusting he was in process of being cured of. It seems otherwise.

It doesn't matter now, but it will when peace terms come up for discussion.

It will be a mean argument, too.

The democracies will squelch the Nazis. The Fascists will give up to them. Some semi-totalitarian countries, like Spain, will shut up their traps. Italy will not be any conspicuous nuisance.

China will be in.

Everything will be all "hunky" except if Russia stays on the sideline.

Japan can be kept smothered; not Russia.

It has to be remembered that the Soviets looked pro-German until the Nazis attacked them. At least they were neutral. The Germans set them a-going.

They are sore about it, of course. Nevertheless, it does not prove that their philosophy has modified. The democracies trusted in providence that they would be democratized. It looks otherwise.

Just now it does not matter so much, but it will in the post-war world.

It has been trusted in Washington and London that Premier Stalin would forget his pre-war program in the midst of the actual muss—that he will "stay up" as a post-war democrat.

Today it does not look like it.

He is in the war but not the post-war settlement.

A three-cornered bargain is what is promised:

The democracies, the licked totalitarians and the Communists!

It remains to be seen how well the triumphant democracies and the Communists will get on together.

Line them up:

The United States, Britain, probably France, most likely Italy, Spain, the European miscellany, licked Europe, the western hemisphere and China versus Russia and the Japs!

How peaceful that is going to be is problematic.

Herr Hitler will be licked, sure.

But how about Joe Stalin and his outfit?

They are O. K. now, to be sure, but when it comes to a discussion of peace terms?

They were a bit disagreeable as to that Casablanca conference.

Watching Trends

—By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON—If the ban on pleasure driving spreads to the rest of the country, there are 31 other states whose drivers can get ready for a good mad.

Taking for granted that complaints which have trickled in here from eastern states are typical, already harassed drivers are being driven crazy by attempts at enforcement of this latest gasoline and tire saving device.

Of the first dozen "violators" hailed before ration boards here, only two had their ration cards suspended. One of those who didn't was a night club owner. His was the only car in the club's "free parking" lot. He, three waiters, a hat check girl, two bartenders, two cooks and a dishwasher were the only persons in the place. Another was a neighborhood theater owner. His, too, was the only car on the theater's private parking lot.

IN A MIDTOWN parking lot the other night, I saw a man writing numbers furiously in a little black book. I asked him if he was with the OPA. "Not exactly," he explained. "I'm a civilian police officer." I asked how he could tell it all these cars belonged to persons violating the non-essential driving ban. "That's easy," he said. "I just watch and see if a boy and girl or man and woman get out. If they do, I know they are going to a movie and take their number."

Two things are wrong with the "pleasure driving" ban. Lack of clear definition as to what exactly is non-essential driving, and the method of enforcing it.

It's apparent already that the haphazard system of taking down numbers is going to result in hundreds of innocent persons being called before their ration boards for questioning. A few will be caught and "fined" so much gas, but it probably won't make up for the gas consumed by the innocents who drive to answer the call.

AS TIME goes on, the defining of "pleasure driving" will probably be clarified. A classic of the early days has been that the rules permitted going to church for religious services and funerals. Church weddings finally were included, but still civil and home weddings were left out.

That's just an example of the inconsistencies that have arisen—and they are the kind that's making an American hopping mad with his government.

On the other hand, many observers feel that no regulations have been so effective in cutting down gasoline and tire consumption as the ban on pleasure driving. For every violator, they say, thousands have taken to it with patriotic good grace. For proof, they have the photos of deserted streets and highways and empty parking lots.

Looking Back

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY

Sunday, Feb. 4, 1923.

It was announced that Knights of Pythias lodge planned to erect new home on property at northwest corner of West Fourth and Mulberry streets.

Rev. M. A. Eakin preached initial sermon as pastor of United Presbyterian church.

Louis Hyler, 67, former Mansfield barber, died in Cleveland.

Constance Talmadge in "East is West" was screen attraction at the Majestic.

Mrs. John Morgan and little daughter were ill at their home on Dawson avenue.

Fire department was called to home of William Marks, 262 North Franklin avenue.

James Bailey arrived home from a trip to California.

TODAY IN HISTORY

On Feb. 4, 1890, the centennial celebration of the Supreme Court was held. Another event which occurred on Feb. 4, this one in 1861, was the formation of the Southern Confederacy.

Faith is the subject of things hoped for, the evidence of things not seen.—Hebrews 11:1.

Health and Diet

New Food Habits

—By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

AS AN old soldier and one-time medical officer, it is with nostalgic and mixed memories that I note that the quartermaster corps is issuing vanilla tablets instead of the extract. The reason for this, of course, is that they are easier to ship, but there is a foot-note which states they fill another longfelt want. They are a flavoring extract that contains no alcohol to tempt harried army cooks.

Food in Powder Form.

There is, however, an important implication of serious portent in the item. The English are living very largely on concentrated foods—cocentrated in various ways. No meat is shipped to England until the bones have been cut away from it to make it lighter. Oranges and other foods arrive in England in powder form—orange juice dehydrated. Add water and a little artificial vitamin C and it becomes the same as the original product for all practical purposes.

The idea opens up a whole field of speculation about postwar conditions. Why should ships be loaded with hundreds of tons of oranges (mostly water) to sail to England, when five tons of powder would last the British Isles for a week? I say oranges, but of course it applies to any bulky food.

The essential food elements are protein, carbohydrates, fat, water, the minerals (calcium, phosporus, iron, magnesium, salt, potassium, iodine) and the vitamins (A, thiamine, riboflavin, biotin, cevatamic acid, D, E and K and maybe some more).

I have used the chemical names to show that synthetic dietetics has reached the point where in a chemical laboratory with a very few raw materials, a modern chemist can fix up a balanced diet for a thousand people in half an hour. And the trend of medical research has so emphasized this kind of development that no one knows what we will be able to do by 1950.

Two Objections.

Concentrated proteins may be just as familiar as concentrated carbohydrates such as granulated sugar and flour. A man can get his entire daily carbohydrate requirement out of a teaspoonful and a half of granulated sugar. He won't get any vitamins, but we can add the vitamins in the form of a pill the size of the end of your little finger.

I know this sounds a little like a pipe dream. It is imposed on us by necessity now, but how about when we are free again? There are at least two flies in the ointment. One is bulk. The concentrated diet contains no roughage and one shudders to think of the intestines of the civilized modern man of 1950.

The other is taste. A concentrated pellet and a teaspoonful and a half of sugar does not appeal very much to me or to any other well-fed gourmet who is used to starting in with cucumber soup, the basis of which is chicken stock, and ending up with pate de foi gras.

Perhaps about 1946 someone will discover a long-concealed case of vanilla extract. Then we will go 'round and 'round again.

As Others See It

Without Visible Proof.

Much of the talk of the peace that is to come is based on the presumption that we have more sense than after the first World war. No bets are being made on it.—Toledo Blade.

A Farmer's Diary

Navy Wife

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

A PRETTY SET-UP, I call it! I declare it oughta be broadcast far and wide," exclaimed a village woman hotly.

"What's this?" I wondered.

"The kind of patriotism this country shows its Navy wives. I know, because of our foster son's family. He lived with us from just a small boy until he went into the Navy, seven years ago. He was with the Pacific fleet, and he married a Samoan girl, born there, of Yankee parents. They had a lovely baby boy, who came two months after his father had been ordered to leave Honolulu.

"Our sailor has been in the thick of it ever since. He's a radio master, and last March he was recommended for bravery because he stayed at his post through continuous bombing for many days. On three occasions, he tells us, 'only God saved us, nothing else coulda done it.'

"His wife and baby were in Honolulu when the Japs bombed Pearl Harbor. He did not hear from her for seven months, nor she from him for five.

"Then, when the Navy men's families were moved from there, she came to our home. Her baby is such a darling! But she was dissatisfied, and after a while she went to Washington state, to live with her father's sister. Not being used to cold wet weather, they were continually sick—the doctors ordered her to warmer climate.

"A few weeks ago she went to Los Angeles, and finally found a temporary rooming place, but—poor girl—everywhere she goes no one will let her have rooms. No Children Wanted!

"So there she is—she has given up her husband and her home for America; he has given up his wife and baby and fought three years already for the safety of the very homes that turn her away and she was sent here for protection! Can you beat it?

"This isn't the first circumstance of the kind I've heard of, either. I wonder what such girls think of American patriotism anyway!"

THE BOY FROM MAINE

By Katharine Brush

(Copyright 1943)

CHAPTER XX

Outwardly they accepted each other's little flirtations, and Rosalie made smiling public allusions to what she called "Bailey's roving eye." But it was true—it was still true—that she loved Bailey more than anyone in the world except herself, and secretly she was more jealous of him than he was of her—furthermore she suspected that she had more reason than he did. She went to great pains to conceal how very much this worried her. She was careful to keep her own score equal to his, as far as outside interests and admiration were concerned—she had to. It was a reassurance to herself, and a protection of her pride; it was the lying gesture by which she said to Bailey, "Look. You see? I am not afraid of losing you."

And that was the Rosalie Hobey went to have cocktails with, except that he didn't know it yet—he didn't know anything about her. He hoped he would find her alone; and something about the way her invitation had been given made him sure he would.

The apartment house where the Harkers lived this year was on Park avenue. A Chinese houseman answered his ring, and disappeared to announce him, and returned again to say that Mrs. Harker would be a few minutes. Almost at the same time, Rosalie's own voice called to him, from some unseen inner room, through open doorways. "Hobey?"

"Yes. Hello there," he said.

"Hello yourself."

She had always had the most exciting voice in all the world.

"I'm so sorry to keep you waiting," she continued blithely. "I'm a little late, as usual. I'm always a little late. Have Toy bring you something to drink and I'll be out there in two seconds . . ."

So he was left alone in Rosalie's living room; he thought of it only as hers, not as Harker's at all, because it looked like her. Take it all in, he thought, and he looked carefully at everything, partly because he wanted to remember it all, and partly for the clues it might give him as to the kind of person Rosalie was now, and the kind of life she led, and the things she liked . . . He tried to figure out whether this was a place where happy people lived, or whether it was merely festive—a place for parties. Somehow it looked a little like that, the more he scrutinized it.

It was an attractive room. There were flowers everywhere, glaring beautifully from their vases—well arranged. He wondered whether she had done them. In the little foyer that was like an alcove off this room, there was a small bar—pulpit sized—built snugly into a corner, with four barstools ranged around it, and with mirrors in back. The opposite wall of the alcove was made of books, from floor to ceiling. Hobey got up and strolled across and looked at the books. They were practically all novels, like a circulating library. He squatted down and glanced over the titles on the lower shelves. Here there was a history of the World war—half a shelf of that—and a record of the 26th Division in the war, and some old male yearbooks . . . Wedged in among these was a copy of the five Little Peppers. He plucked it out with his forefinger and looked at the flyleaf, and, just as he had known it would be, Rosalie's childhood signature was there. "Rosalie Hastings," and the address of the house on Beacon street. No date, but just the straggling inky letters. He smiled faintly, closing the book, putting it back. Then he looked at his fingers, and they were dusty, and he smiled again. Not a good housekeeper. Well, but all right. He liked that. He wouldn't have expected or wanted Rosalie to be a good housekeeper, ever.

She came suddenly into the room, in a little laughing breathless rush. "I'm so-o-o sorry!" She gave Hovey both her hands, just as she had last night, smiled radiantly and seemed enchanted to see him. He said, "Let me look at you," and he backed her off, still holding her two hands, and looked at the costume she had on, because it was made to be looked at. It was a kind of tea gown, with a long, accordion-pleated skirt and an embroidered Chinese jacket, all very effective, a little theatrical. "Do you like it?" Rosalie said. "It's new. I've never been worn it before. I've been waiting for an occasion—and this is the occasion."

"You say the nicest things."

"I mean them too," said Rosalie, "sometimes. I've been thrilled today about last night, and about discovering you again . . . Bailey was sorry to miss you," she added punctiously. "He's gone to the baseball game, at New Haven. He took the people we were with last night. I was supposed to go too, but I ducked it—chiefly because I were coming to see me."

There were two comfortable-looking couches set perpendicularly to the fireplace—a big one and a small one, facing each other. And Rosalie chose the small one and sat in one corner of it and tucked the other corner with her head. "Sit there . . ."

But Hobey took the couch opposite. "I'd rather sit here," he said, "if you don't mind. I can see you better."

It was wonderful here with her, almost from the beginning he thought. I'm never going to want to go home, and he thought he must watch it, so he began worrying too soon for fear it was time to go.

Rosalie said, "We've got years to recover, Hobey—ages!" And they began. They asked each other many questions about how it went with both of them, what life was like; and Hobey heard a little bit about the years at the school, and a little of how she lived now, and how much he traveled. She was brief about her answers, though. He was the exhaustive one. It was so easy to talk to her—the hard thing was not to go on and on. "I'm talking much too much," he said once, breaking off.

"You're not. Don't stop. I'm having a lovely time."

She had always been the world's best listener—he remembered that. She had always watched you brightly when you told her things, and she still did this, drinking it all in with her gray eyes. And he knew too that even though her eyes never seemed to shift from his face, they took in or had taken in the details of his whole appearance; and he was glad that his tailor was the best in New York, and that his barber was skillful, and that the tie was carefully selected, and the shirt custom-made and good.

Little things kept happening. The telephone rang several times, and the man answered it, and came and said to Rosalie, "Excuse me. Mrs. Harker, Mrs. Crane is on the phone." First it was Mrs. Crane, whoever she was—"Darling, how are you?" Rosalie said—and then it was Mr. Knight, and then Mr. McComebody. Rosalie called them all darling, in the same way. Hobey listened deliberately, not even trying not to. She had a lot of men friends, probably. Inevitably. Could he be one of them, or not? Could he call up, like that—and could he come again? How was this going to be? He couldn't tell yet.

With their second hour of easy talk they grew still more relaxed, and Rosalie sat lower in the couch and leaned her head against the back of it, and the slipper came half-way off the foot that dangled, and she held it on the toe of her stocking-foot. She balanced it there for a long time, and finally it dropped to the floor, and Hobey said involuntarily, "There it goes," because he had been expecting this. And they both laughed. Rosalie leaned down to get it, but he was too quick for her, and he picked up the shoe himself and put it back on her extended foot, being careful not to grasp her ankle with his other hand as he wished to do.

He said, "You still have the littlest feet in the world," and Rosalie murmured a light disclaimer, and she added, "Remember the time we painted shoes on them with some black buoy paint we found at the wharf?" Hobey did remember, and he said, "Black shoes with red buttons . . ." And that was how it was. Everything reminded them gleefully of something.

The afternoon grew dark, more lamps had to be lighted, and twice Rosalie rang for Toy and had their drinks replenished. "I'm afraid I'm staying too long," Hobey said dutifully, the second time this happened. "I'd better go, hadn't I? Why don't you throw me out?" But Rosalie said positively, "No, no. Not yet. I won't let you. You don't really want to go, do you? So soon?"

"You know I don't."

"Well, then. Don't even think of it. I hate being left alone," she added pensively.

"I don't imagine you are, very often."

"I am, though. Oftener than I like."

He didn't know what that meant, and he wondered, but he couldn't ask. He wasn't even sure she meant it to mean anything. Probably not.

"Go on with the story," Rosalie said. "And don't skip things—you keep skipping. For instance, what was the first thing you ever did at the night-club?"

"Filled in for the doorman," Hobey said promptly, "one night when he got drunk."

"No, but I mean really."

"Well, I used to do a little bit of everything," he said, and ran through the details, since she seemed to want to know. He had worked the lights, once, for a while, and helped the stage manager, and then he'd done publicity, and anything else that needed doing. When Ruby got discouraged about the night-club business after prohibition, she had closed up—for good, she thought—and gone back into vaudeville where she came from. Hobey was still her chauffeur then, but he was also a kind of secretary—for lack of a better title—and a kind of general trouble shooter. She spent almost a year on tour, with a big troupe, and he was advance man and publicity man and finally manager. One winter she had an act in the Follies, and one summer she took her whole company over to Europe and played at the Casino at Monte Carlo, and it was there that Hobey started to sing and sometimes ran the show. It was easy there because the French liked anything American, and they always laughed, and he got over all right, and that gave him confidence. And then when they came back to New York, and Ruby opened the Maison Mallory—the one she had before this one—he became master of ceremonies just as now. "And that's that," he said abruptly. "Now you have it all."

"It will do for a bare outline," Rosalie said. "I can think of lots of other things I want to know. Where you live, and how you live, and why you've never been back to the island—"

SOCIETY & CLUBS

TWO CHOIR MEMBERS HONORED AT PARTY

Mrs. John Baki and Miss Marguritte Boyer Receive Wedding Gifts During Party In Gilbert Home Wednesday Evening.

MEMBERS of the choir of St. Paul's Lutheran church, their wives and husbands, met at the home of Rev. and Mrs. Herman L. Gilbert, West Third street, last evening to honor two members, Mrs. John Baki, the former Ruth Bollman, a recent bride, and Miss Marguritte Boyer, whose marriage to Second Lieut. Robert Rhoads will be an event of Friday night at the church.

During the evening the guests were shown colored movies of the Bollman-Baki wedding party which Rev. Gilbert had taken, and also movies of church activities during the past year, which were shown by Lawrence Chamberlain, member of the choir.

Heart games were provided during the evening, with Mrs. O. L. Seybold and Mr. Chamberlain receiving prizes which they presented to the two honored guests. There also were gifts of linen for Mrs. Baki and Miss Boyer from the group.

At a late hour a luncheon was served buffet style from a long table appointed in red, white and blue, and centered with a large bowl of flowers in the patriotic colors with tall lighted tapers. Bowls of flowers were effectively placed throughout the rooms of the Gilbert home. Miss Estella Arras presided at the serving table.

During the evening the 19 guests also enjoyed a program of recorded music, many of the records, which are the property of Mrs. Gilbert, being imported.

Hut-Sut Club Has Dinner Party on Anniversary

The first anniversary of the organization of the Hut-Sut club was appropriately observed Wednesday evening when a dinner party was held at Scotty's Supper club on West Fourth street.

After the dinner the members participated in contests with Mrs. Robert Lyon, Mrs. Cecil Friend and Mrs. Howard Richards winning prizes. The club prize was awarded to Mrs. N. J. Wilhelm.

Hostesses for the affair were Mrs. Harold Thoma, sr., Mrs. Harold Thoma, jr., and Mrs. Martha Reeder. Mrs. Robert Portner was welcomed as a new member of the club. The next meeting March 3, will be at the home of Mrs. Wilhelm, 241 Clairmont avenue, with Mrs. Lyon assisting.

Delta Theta Tau Plan Rush Parties

Plans for a series of rushing parties were completed by the members of the Zeta chapter of Delta Theta Tau sorority when they met recently in the club rooms at the Warner building on Park avenue west.

The first in this series will be given at the next meeting, Feb. 22. Hostesses for this party will be the members of the membership committee. They are Miss Vera Jo Robertson, chairman, and the Misses Martha Pfaff, Betty Jane Yuncker and Anna Jane Lloyd. The place will be announced later.

New officers were appointed to fill vacancies in the executive committee. Miss Louise Grimes will assume the duties of vice president, previously held by Miss Yuncker, who is now the president. Miss Jo Ann Locke will be corresponding secretary and Miss Lloyd will act as historian. Vacancies in the executive committee were caused by members moving from the city.

A contribution of $5 was made to the local U. S. O. Members of the sorority signed, as a group, to be blood donors for the benefit of the American Red Cross.

PLAN CLASS MEETING.

A covered-dish dinner and meeting of the Booster class of the Central Methodist Episcopal church is planned for Friday at 6:30 p. m. at the church, it was announced today.

Miss Lillian Wentz Feted at Shower

Miss Lillian Jean Wentz, bride-elect of Joseph P. Lesch, of the army air corps, was honored last evening, with a bathroom shower, by the Misses Alvera and Veronica Lesch, and Mrs. Claire Davis, sisters of the prospective bridegroom, at the Lesch home, 107 Washington avenue.

Eighteen guests hemmed tea towels during the evening. When luncheon was served, the table was attractively decorated with a miniature lake, in which were wax ducks and water lillies. The lake was banked with evergreen. On either side were tall white tapers, entwined with roses and lillies of the valley.

Miss Wentz was presented with a beautiful gift of crystal by the hostesses. The next of the numerous showers planned for the bride-elect of Mr. Lesch will be given at the home of Miss Betty McGregor, 39 West Arch street, on Feb. 9.

COMMUNITY MEETING.

The Hickory Hall school will hold a community meeting, Friday Feb. 5 at 8 p. m. at the school, located three miles east of Mansfield. Instrumental music and a mock trial will provide the entertainment. The meeting is open to all residents of that community.

Moose Chapter Has Program and Formal Initiation

The Ritual committee of the Women of the Moose, chapter 47 held its chapter night program last evening at the Moose home with Mrs. Mabel Keller, chairman in charge. The formal initiation was open to the public.

Each member of the committee wore a corsage of roses and baby breath. Mrs. Keller received a corsage of gardenias from her committee. One hundred and thirty were in attendance.

The business meeting was in charge of Mrs. Helen Perry, senior regent. Twenty-five candidates were initiated, and each received a miniature American flag for identification. The class was honored with the presence of Mrs. Ann Regner, past graduate associate regent, from Columbus. Mrs. Regner spoke on "Ritual Work."

Mrs. Regner and Mrs. Perry wore corsages given by the ritual committee. Twenty members of the ritual committee dressed in red and white checked formals put on an exhibition patriotic fancy drill. In closing, they formed different letters for different branches of the service. Representing the army was Sgt. John F. Pierce, air corps, Ensign Howard Fraig, navy, John G. Stutz, and Marine corps, Albert M. Workman. "V" for victory, was the last letter represented.

Miss Eleanor Orason presented two vocal selections, "Star Spangled Banner Waving Somewhere" and "When the Lights Go On Again All Over the World." She was accompanied by Mrs. Edith Beilstein at the piano.

The boys in the service, the singer and Mrs. Myrtle Clements were all presented gifts from the committee. The hall was decorated with American flags, flowers, ferns and palms.

A special meeting was called by Mrs. Perry for Feb. 12 at 7:30. There will also be an executive board and committee chairman meeting at that time. The next meeting will be the recorders' chapter night program, Feb. 17 at the Moose home.

Circle Meets With Mrs. A. C. Minard

Moving pictures in color were shown last evening at the February meeting of the Good Cheer circle of the South Main Street Evangelical church, when it met with Mrs. A. C. Minard, Sunset boulevard.

Arthur Hunter showed the pictures of Yellowstone National Park, after the business meeting, which was conducted by Mrs. Charles E. Payne. Mrs. Amos Birch had charge of the devotions at the meeting at which 24 members and three guests, Mrs. Damon Smith and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Hunter attended.

The committee for this meeting was Mrs. Minard, Mrs. Birch and Mrs. Floyd Culp. The next meeting will be held March 10.

C. L. of C. Has Social Meeting

Twelve tables of 500 and bridge were in play Tuesday evening, when Mrs. N. Enderle and her committee presided over a social meeting in the club rooms of the C. L. of C.

Mrs. R. C. Straub, president, suggested that the women take a course in nurse's training at the Simpson High school. The next meeting will be a business meeting, scheduled for Feb. 16. After this meeting, the annual card tournament will begin.

Prizes were won Tuesday evening by Mrs. Sadie Day, Mrs. Newton DeWeese, Mrs. Clarence Dropsey, Mrs. Frank Loykovich and Mrs. Anna Mae Weakland.

Club Meets With Mrs. R. McCartney

Mrs. Russell McCartney, 24 Bentley street, entertained five members and three guests of the Revelers' club when it held its regular monthly meeting. The guests were Mrs. Mary Young, Mrs. Rose Wirtz and Mrs. Ruth Marker.

A short business meeting was held by the president, Mrs. George Mensch, at which time it was decided to have the next meeting Feb. 17 at the home of Mrs. Herbert Friday, Westlawn Drive.

Pinochle was played and prizes were won by Mrs. Young, Mrs. Marker and Mrs. Mary Sposito. At a late hour, luncheon was served at small tables. Patriotic colors were used.

Beige With Black Trim

DRUM MAJOR? No, just CBS starlet Ann Eden, wearing a beige jacket with bold black braid and passementerie trim, black skirt, designed by Nettie Rosenstein.

Mrs. Lash Has Paper At Sorosis Meeting

Mrs. Frank Breckenridge, West Townview circle, presided as hostess to members of the Beta chapter, Mansfield Sororsis club, at her home Wednesday evening.

The business meeting was in charge of Mrs. Aiden Lash, who succeeds Mrs. W. W. Mickey as president of the club. Mrs. Mickey has moved to Cincinnati. Mrs. Virt Simpson presented the new plan to acquire books for men in camps, and members voted to co-operate.

Mrs. Lash had the program of the evening, speaking on "The Films, Yesterday, Today and Tomorrow," in which she traced the moving picture industry from its early inception, and discussed the various stages of development from 1908-1918, at which time "The Birth of a Nation" was produced and Mary Pickford, Douglas Fairbanks, and Charles Chaplin reached their popularity peak.

She spoke of the transition period as beginning in 1918, and running through 1929 which brought the names of Cecil B. DeMille and Theda Bara into prominence. The maturity period, from 1929 to the present, was introduced by the depression, Mrs. Lash told the group, and had a tremendous effect on the theater.

Refreshments were served at the close of the program at a long table decorated in a Valentine theme of red and white. The next meeting, Feb. 17, will be with Mrs. Simpson, Westview boulevard.

Mrs. M. McCartney Presides at Meet

Miss Mary McCartney, new Worthy Advisor of the Rainbow Girls presided over the meeting, last evening, when the group met at the K. of P. hall.

A business session took place, during which the Misses Dorothy Ohler, Ruth Ann Fox, Miriam Secord, McCartney and Mary Alice Spring were presented with service bars and badges.

Petitions for membership in the assembly were read and committees appointed. The assembly then balloted upon previous petitions. Initiation will take place at the next meeting, scheduled for Feb. 17.

Mrs. Hines Guest At Club Meeting

Mrs. Edna Herring, Rae avenue, opened her home to 14 members of the E. T. club and one guest, Mrs. Irene Hines, Tusday evening. Mrs. Ellen Vrbanac was welcomed as a new member.

Hearts engaged the group during the evening, with prizes being won by Miss Frieda Boebel, Mrs. Grace Hunter and Mrs. Clara Woodard. Valentine appointments were used when a luncheon was served at the close of the card games.

Another meeting, Feb. 23, will be with Miss Marguerite Goetz, 225 South Diamond street.

W. W. G. CLASS MEETS.

The W. W. G. class of the United Brethren church met Thursday evening with Mrs. Oscar J. Banks, 533 Park Avenue West. Mrs. W. E. Boals led the devotions for 13 members. The business meeting was in charge of Mrs. Harry McBride. Contests were won by Mrs. C. E. Pollock. When luncheon was served, valentine appointments were used. Mrs. Robert Hoover, 239 Bartley avenue, will entertain the class Mar. 2.

Auxiliary Holds Initiation for Two Members

Full ritualistic rites were conducted at the meeting of the Sons of Union Veterans auxiliary, 100, Wednesday evening when Mrs. Jennie Shannon and Miss Marian McBride were initiated into membership. The meeting was in Memorial building.

Mrs. Dorothy Wilmoth, presided during the business meeting, when a contribution was made to the March of Dimes. The program was in charge of Mrs. Ethel Miller, during which Mrs. Elma Stickler, patriotic instructor, read a paper on the life of Abraham Lincoln.

The next meeting, Feb. 17, will be an initiation meeting, followed by a Washington Birthday party. This affair will be a six o'clock dinner, with Mrs. Ethel Miller, Mrs. Ella McHugh and Mrs. Esther Miller on the committee. During the afternoon the members will meet at the Red Cross sewing room to roll surgical dressings.

Helpers Class Meets Tuesday

Miss Nell Kearns presided as program chairman at the covered-dish dinner and program for members of the Helpers Circle class of First Lutheran church, Tuesday evening in the parish house.

Guests at the affair were Rev. Grover E. Swoyer, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Cashell, Mr. and Mrs. George Hoover and Mrs. W. C. B. Harris, all of whom spoke briefly following their introductions.

Mrs. Clora Balliett Elder sang two numbers, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Anna Klippel. The remainder of the evening was spent socially.

The committee in charge of arrangements for the dinner included Mrs. Emma Dye, Mrs. Wilhemina Mull, Mrs. Lillian Parker and Mrs. Mayme Guiher. The next meeting, March 2, will be a business session in the parish house.

CHRYSANTHEMUM CLUB.

Chrysanthemum club members were entertained at a luncheon and pinochle party last evening in the Staiger Tea room, on Glessner avenue. Prizes were awarded to Mrs. C. W. Stutz and Mrs. George M. Bell.

MISS MARILYN WRIGHT FETED AT PARTIES

Sorority Sisters and Office Associates Entertain for Bride-Elect of Lieut. Harold Valentine; Wedding to Take Place Feb. 12.

WHEN Mrs. Albert Falter, 610 Marion avenue, entertained members of Beta Pi Mu sorority Tuesday evening Miss Marilyn Wright, bride-elect of Lieut. Harold Valentine, was honored. Associate hostesses were Miss Ettie Mullett and Miss Clara Jasinski.

The evening was spent socially and the guests made a bride's book, which they presented to the honoree.

At a later hour a buffet luncheon was served from a long table appointed in pink and blue. The centerpiece was a low arrangement of pink sweet peas and white snapdragons in blue pottery bowls. At either end of the table were lighted pink tapers in blue pottery holders. Favors were small pink nut cups, topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom.

Miss Wright was presented with a personal gift from her sorority sisters.

On Monday evening Miss Wright was honored by her associates in the radio division of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company. The affair was a spaghetti dinner, served in a downtown restaurant. During the evening Miss Wright was presented with a wedding gift from the group.

Miss Wright, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Wright, Maple street, will leave Sunday to join Lieut. Valentine in Monroe, N. C., where their formal wedding will be solemnized on Feb. 12, in the Methodist Episcopal church at 7 p. m.

Ninety Members Attend Annual Class Dinner

Ninety members of the J. D. Wilcox Bible class of the First Christian church attended the annual covered-dish dinner in the Prospect park pavilion Wednesday evening.

D. H. Hughes presided as chairman of the affair, and was assisted in making arrangements by M. J. Lybarger, Roy Vaughn and George Rogers.

A special program of music was provided by the Christian Sunday school orchestra, under the direction of Mr. Lybarger, and Miss Janet Mayer played two piano solos.

Mrs. A. C. Tuttle was one of the guests at the affair, and spoke on the subject, "The Nutrition Program of the Red Cross." The prinipal speaker of the evening was Capt. J. R. Harrington, manager of the Mansfield Municipal airport.

Group singing was enjoyed by the group during the remainder of the evening.

One Guest Attends Auxiliary Meeting

Members of the Typographical Auxiliary motored to Shelby Tuesday evening for a meeting in the home of Mrs. Robert Olds. There were 11 members and one guest present.

The business meeting was in charge of the president, Mrs. Lillian Powell, after which the group played hearts with Mrs. P. M. Wragg, Mrs. Harold Merryman and Mrs. Walter Hartwig receiving prizes. The luncheon was served at a long table appointed in red and white.

The next meeting will be a dinner-party for members at the home of Mrs. Powell, 519 Heineman boulevard, on March 2.

Garden Club Has Luncheon-Meet

The home of Mrs Foster Stough, East Second street, was the scene of a luncheon and meeting for members of the Royal Regal Garden club Tuesday. Mrs. Foster Hunter was the associate hostess.

Following the luncheon, which was served at a long table centered with a bowl of spring flowers, Mrs. Wilmer Gross, president, conducted the business meeting.

The members responded to roll call with current news items. Mrs. Hunter read an informative paper on "Starting Seedlings Indoors." This was followed by a round-table discussion.

The next meeting, March 2 will be a noon luncheon at the Evergreens.

Guild Meets at Mrs. Glasgow's

Mrs. Andrew McBride and Mrs. Cecil Friend were invited as guests to the meeting of the World Wide Guild of Park avenue Baptist church, Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Charles Glasgow, 355 Sixth street. Mrs. Donald Curl and Mrs. Willard Conn were associate hostesses.

Devotions were in charge of Mrs. Robert Small and Mrs. Paul Burmelin gave an interesting book review. Refreshments were served at the close of the evening.

The next meeting, March 2, will be with Mrs. Paul Burmelin, 30½ Douglas avenue.

Surprise Party Honors Birthday

Mrs. J. A. McKinley was pleasantly surprised by a group of friends Tuesday evening, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Charles Metcalf, East Mansfield, the occasion being her birthday anniversary.

Games and contests engaged the guests, with Mrs. Ralph Moser and Mrs. J. E. McKinley receiving prizes. The guests presented the honoree with a birthday gift. Luncheon was served at a long table, appointed in a green, yellow and white color scheme.

COMMITTEE MEETING.

A meeting of the Social service committee of the Women of Moose was an event of Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Janet Hamilton, 217½ North Mulberry street. Plans were completed for the Chapter night program in March. Prizes in the contests were won by Mrs Dessie Kimes, Mrs Mabel Ricker and Mrs. Elmira Caugherty. Luncheon was served at the close of the evening.

"Pitfalls of Love"

(A Sequel to Marriage Meddlers)

By ADELE GARRISON

"And so much more remains to be done," Georges said ruefully, as Halloran stepped aside and the young king preceded him into the room.

"I am desolated, Aunt Madge, to let you see me like this. But Mr. Halloran said I must come in without further delay."

"I regret that I had to be insistent," my father said, "but I am sure you will see my reason for it when Mr. Halloran tells you what he has discovered, and what you should know without delay."

"It wouldn't matter if it weren't for Aunt Madge," Georges persisted with his customary gallantry.

"I imagine she'll be able to survive," my father said dryly, and I had to smother my laughter. For I knew Georges' reluctance to having me see him was not as poignant as it would have been if Olga or especially Mary, were about to witness his sartorial plight.

He was undoubtedly the handsome, debonair Georges of my memory, and his laughing eyes were unchanged, but all around his head and the edges of his face where the false white beard and wig had been tightly attached, were strips of gauze which I knew covered angry red lines. Dicky's bathrobe covered his lithe figure, and his feet, in a pair of the socks I had purchased for him, were thrust into Dicky's bedroom slippers. Yet he managed to look really regal.

"Don't bother about me," I told him, smiling, "I'm simply here on the chance that I may be needed for some clerical work."

Georges laughed, with a carefree sound, for release from the awful beard and wig had set his spirits soaring upward, to say nothing of the fillip his meeting Mary again undoubtedly had given him. It seemed too bad to consign so bubbling a wine of life to the dreariness of the hideaway, yet I feared that his staying in Mary's orbit might cause unhappiness to Mary, Georges, Olina and Noel.

Then my father struck in with firmness.

"Please sit down over here, Mr. Warner," he said, and I saw Georges' lips quirk mirthfully at the name, which my father already had told him he was to use for a time.

"You might as well get used to that name," my father said surprisingly. "It is not needed here now, for Mr. Halloran knows who you are, but you probably will need it later."

But Georges apparently had heard only one clause of my father's speech, and his eyes widened in bewildered surprise.

"Mr. Halloran knows who I am!" he repeated. "How — Where—"

"That is what we brought you in to hear," my father answered. "It is a most fantastic story, but I thought you ought to hear it as quickly as possible. I am anxious to see what you make of it, especially if you can figure out the reason for it. Go ahead Mr. Halloran."

Halloran struck into his tale with gusto, outlining again the studies he had been required to make of photographs, bust and death mask of Georges, in order to build up another man to be his exact duplicate.

Georges listened in astounded silence, until Halloran had finished, then shook his head as if trying to clear his brain.

"It doesn't make sense to me," he said. "I'm supposed to be dead by most people. The few who know I'm alive, outside of these dear people here, are most of them bent on killing me."

As he stopped, bewildered, a solution of the problem flashed upon me.

"What about your money, Georges?" I asked.

Bible Club Meets With Mrs. Schrack

Members of the Ruth and Naomi Bible club were guests, last evening, of Mrs. W. A. Schrack, 88 Helen avenue, when they met for their regular monthly meeting.

Mrs. J. E. Fendrick conducted the devotional period. Roll call was answered by 14 members with scripture verses. Mrs. J. H. Howard conducted the study on the seventh chapter of Romans.

Mrs J H. Heath conducted the short business meeting. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. R. E Race, 155 Penn avenue, Feb. 17.

Plan Dinner for Aviation Cadets

The business meeting of the Blue Star Mothers club was in charge of the president, Mrs. C. A. Forsythe, Tuesday evening, in the Legion home.

Plans were made for a covered-dish dinner at the Letogn, Feb 16, at which time naval cadets in training at the Mansfield airport will be guests for the dinner and entertainment.

Mrs. J. M. Myers gave a talk on army life following a visit with her son, Major Richard J. Myers, at Ft McLelland, Ala., recently. Plans also were completed for a benefit bridge party at the Legion home on Feb. 26.

Journey Club Has Open Forum Program

Mrs. Frank Cummins, 529 Summit street, was hostess yesterday afternoon to the Journey club when it met for an open forum program.

Each member answered roll call with interesting current events on war activities at home and abroad, changes in living conditions, new discoveries in science and medicine and post-war improvements.

During the afternoon, members sewed for the Red Cross. Mrs. William Althouse presided at the table when tea was served. The table was centered with a lovely floral arrangement in white.

Mrs J A Lewin, 480 Shepard road, will entertain the club at its next meeting, Feb. 17.

Mrs. Ott reviewed Albert Rhys Wiliams' book, "The Russians". Mrs. M. K. Leggett presided at the table when refreshments were served. The next meeting, Feb. 17, will be at the home of Mrs. Oliver Henkel, Andover road.

MEET AT CHURCH.

Mrs O. F. Garner and Mrs George Riel presided as hostesses to members of the Findley-Anderson Bible class of the United Presbyterian church Wednesday evening at the church. A social hour followed the business session, during which the members made scrapbooks to be distributed among several children's hospitals. Refreshments were served. The next affair for the class members will be a covered-dish dinner, March 3.

HOROSCOPE

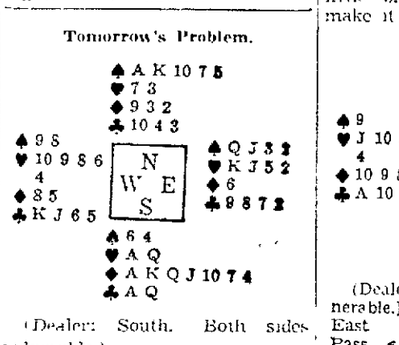
For Friday, Feb. 5.

The astral positions intervening on the affairs of this day are read as moderate, with routine affairs claiming the attention in a business way. The private or intimate relations, however, are somewhat under a cloud, with setbacks, restraints or restrictions.

Those whose birthday it is may have a fair year, with things moving along in accustomed grooves. In personal relations there may be coldness, friction, and criticism, especially from elders.

A child born on this day may fairly be able to maintain its business relations, but probably will be hampered by home ties or affectional restraints of a depressing or adverse nature.

Tomorrow's Problem.



(Dealer: South. Both sides vulnerable.)

What are the odds in favor of South being able to make 6-Diamonds on this deal, if he could see his own cards and the dummy's but not those of the defenders?

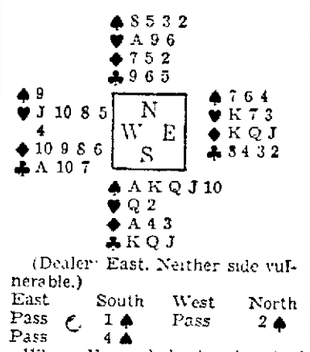
BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By Shepard Barclay

"The Authority on Authorities"

DO IT IN TIME

"TOO LATE!" There you have one of the unhappiest expressions a human being can use, full of regrets and remorse. It has been heard much during the present war, and it always will be heard some wherever human beings have anything to do. In bridge, one of its most grievous applications is to card reading. Pausing to figure out the details of the situation at the earliest possible moment may decide the fate of a hand, whereas waiting the least little bit before doing so may make it fruitless.



(Dealer: East. Neither side vulnerable.)

East	South	West	North
Pass	1 ♠	Pass	2 ♠
Pass	4 ♠

When West led the heart J against this contract South realized at once that if he played low from dummy, his Q would be sure to be established for a trick. So he called the 6 from dummy, saw East put on the K and then played his own 2.

Back from the diamond K, which he took with the A, South now dropped trumps in three rounds, cashed the heart Q and then wondered how he could get over to the dummy to use the heart A in order to discard one of his diamond losers. Finding no way to do it, he had to give up two tricks in that suit, plus one in clubs. Those added to the first trick in hearts gave the defenders four and beat his contract.

How easy it would have been to do a little decisive card reading at the very outset. Brief pausing would have shown him it was 100 to 1 West had the heart 10, since he led the J. If South then had put his Q on the heart K, he would have retained in dummy a tenace of the A-9 over West's 10. Then, when he got the lead, he could have drawn trumps, then finessed the heart 9 to reach dummy. The A then would have been available for discard of a diamond, assuring success.

BRIDGE CLUB MEETS.

The American Legion auxiliary bridge club met Tuesday afternoon for a covered dish luncheon. Prizes won in bridge, played at four tables, were awarded to Mrs. W. H. Henry and Mrs. R. A. Hoffman, who were hostesses, and Mrs. C. E. Sanderson. The next meeting will be in two weeks with Mrs. Ralph Hughes at the Legion home.

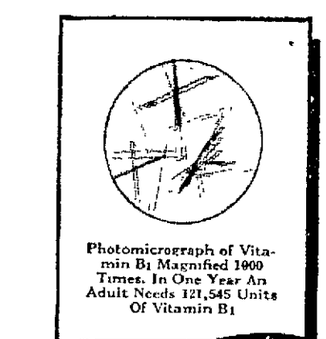
SCIENCE DISCOVERS VITAMIN B_1 NECESSARY TO HELP TRANSFORM BREAD INTO ENERGY



Photomicrograph of Vitamin B_1 Magnified 1000 Times. In One Year An Adult Needs 121,545 Units Of Vitamin B_1

Yet Of The Millions Who Rely Upon Bread For Up To 35% Of Their Daily Energy—3 Out Of 4 Fail To Get A Good Diet, U. S. Officials Say. Thus, Can Fail To Get Enough Vitamin B_1

New Wonder Bread Thrills Thousands Everywhere Because:
(1) Contains Vitamin B_1 (2) Slo-Baked For Lasting Freshness
(3) Tastes Better (4) Proves Easier-To-Slice

WHAT everybody knows is that millions of people rely upon bread for up to 35% of their daily energy.

But what you may not know is that you must have Vitamin B_1 to help transform the bread you eat into the energy you need.

Science today proves conclusively that it takes Vitamin B_1 to unlock bread's hidden energy.

Now—according to U. S. Government Health Officials, 3 out of 4 people fail to get a good diet; thus can fail to get enough Vitamin B_1 naturally.

This does not mean that you lack Vitamin B_1 so badly the bread you eat does you no good. But it does mean that your body cannot properly transform bread into the energy you must have these days unless you get sufficient Vitamin B_1.

A New Kind Of Bread

Now, wise Mother Nature put Vitamin B_1 into wheat. But—in making bread whiter—man took it out.

Then Theodore Earle patented a way to retain more natural vitamins and minerals in flour.

And mass production by American industry made possible further additions of the Vitamin B_1 needed in the bread. A bread now better for flavor and better for health than before.

It's Doubly Fresh

Then, too, this new Wonder Bread is doubly fresh—fresh when you buy it; fresh when you eat it.

Because it is slo-baked for lasting freshness—baked 13% longer than many ordinary kinds.

See how much longer it stays fresh on the table and in the lunch box.

In addition, Wonder's slo-baking method gives you bread with a richer flavor now.

And—a finer, tenderer texture. You'll find it easy to slice—and it leaves no crumbs.

Get new Wonder Bread at your grocer's today. You'll be glad you did!

Only Wonder Bread is made this way from Earle Patented Process Flour—U. S. Pat. Nos. 2143306, 2232697, 2155219, 2232696.

BELIEVES FIRES WILL INCREASE

Trained Officers Scarce as Result of War; Forests Threatened.

DENVER—(INS)—Forest fires in the Rocky Mountain region during the year burned over 2,051 acres of government and privately owned lands, which is better than the average record of the last 10 years, A. A. Brown, of the Denver Forest Service office, reported.

"The forest fire season came to a close over most of the region with recent snow storms," Brown said. "We were apprehensive when the season first started, because of the possibility of sabotage fires, the scarcity of labor and the loss of CCC camps, for the enrollees had been used a lot in fighting fires during the past eight years."

In the 14 Colorado National forests, 301 fires were reported, in contrast with an average of 216 during the past 10 years. The fires burned 910 acres, of which 572 were government and the remainder privately owned lands.

The number of fires reported in Wyoming was 80, with a loss of 964 acres, 70 per cent of which occurred on privately owned land.

The Black Hills and Harvey National forests in South Dakota had 107 fires, in contrast with an average of 132 during the past 10 years. The loss amounted to 172 acres.

"War activities will make both trained forest officers and fire fighters scarce in 1943. Greater cooperation will be needed from every one to keep this public service at the high level our home defense demands," Brown concluded.

Maryland Beauty Held In Youth Slaying

(Studios of the Palais Royal)

Mrs. Helen Aileen Randle, 31, left, was held in Annapolis, Md., jail without bail on a charge of fatally shooting Alley Willey, 17, upper right, and wounding her husband, Ulmo S. Randle, 31, lower right, Maryland sportsman. The shooting, which took place in the Randle home in nearby Bay Bridge, was the outcome of a quarrel over "family skeletons," police said.

THEATERS

Dramatic Story.

The story of an erstwhile great actor who was content to be on the sidelines just to laugh and watch the world go by is unfolded in "Life Begins at 8:30," the Ohio attraction starring Monty Woolley. Ida Lupino appears as the actor's daughter who brings her father to grips with the serious side of life as she fights for her own happiness. Cornel Wilde, an Olympic athlete, makes his debut opposite Miss Lupino. Sara Allgood and Melville Cooper are in the cast.

Detective Thriller.

"Sherlock Holmes and the Secret Weapon," the Madison headliner, presents Basil Rathbone and Lionel Atwill in A. Conan Doyle's mystery-detective thriller. Rathbone plays the detective and Atwill the cunning, ruthless "Professor Moriarty." One of Doyle's most fascinating characters, Kaaren Verne and William Post, jr., are in the supporting cast. "One of Our Aircraft Is Missing," the second feature, is an aerial thriller dealing with the adventures of six RAF flyers grounded in occupied Holland.

Musical Film.

Allan Jones and Jane Frazee are teamed in "Moonlight In Havana," The Ritz attraction. The Jivin' Jacks and Jills are also cast in the picture. Linda Darnell and John Sheppard are featured in "The Loves of Edgar Allan Poe," the second attraction.

Aerial Thriller.

The adventures of "The Flying Mollisons" are presented in "Wings and the Woman," a graphic film drama tracing the career of Amy Johnson and her husband, Jim Mollison, opening Thursday at the Park. Anna Neagle plays the role of the aviatrix and Robert Newton has the part of her husband. Amy Johnson made her first flight in 1928 and shortly afterward found herself a world-wide heroine when she reached Australia after a 19-day trip from England. Roy Rogers and Helen Parrish appear in the co-feature, "Sunset Serenade."

Your Federal Income Tax

NO. 28:
MISCELLANEOUS INCOME

The Federal income tax return Form 1040, used by individuals, is designed to show, by separate entries, the various kinds of income most commonly found. Income from miscellaneous sources, including the net profit (or loss) from partnerships, fiduciary income, and other income, is shown in item 10 of the return form.

Where an individual is engaged in business or profession in partnership with others, a partnership return (Form 1065) must be filed for the partnership. This return is filed for information purposes only, as partnerships are not subject to income tax as such, but the amount of net income (or loss) from the partnership is reported in the returns of the individual members of the partnership according to their shares. This net income (or loss) is shown in item 10, and an explanation, with reference to the partnership, must be shown in Schedule 1 of the return.

In the case of trust funds set up for beneficiaries, an income tax return (Form 1041) is required to be filed by the trustee or fiduciary; the distributable portion of income is, however, nontaxable to the fiduciary, but must be reported in the individual income tax return of the beneficiary or beneficiaries, together with an explanation (in Schedule I) of the source. Such beneficial income received under a trust would be shown in item 10 of the return.

Other income to be reported in item 10 might arise from incidental transactions, apart from the taxpayer's regular business or profession; but gains or losses from the sales of securities would be reported in item 8 (unless the taxpayer is a security dealer, in which case the results of the business are reported in item 9).

In item 10 also would be included any income from gambling or other like winnings. Winnings from gambling, whatever the source or character, must, of course, be reported by the taxpayer; he is allowed, however, to deduct any gambling losses incurred during the year up to an amount equal to the winnings. A net loss from gambling is not an allowable deduction.

FOREST PAYS BIG DIVIDENDS

ORONO, Me. — (INS) — The Orono Town forest was created several years ago. The idea was to convert tax-delinquent farmland into a paying proposition.

The town now is reaping a harvest as a result of the frugal plan. The forest has supplied 200 cords of fuel wood this year.

Fifty cords of dry wood left over from last year have been sold, 150 more cords of dry wood are ready for market. The forest also yields 85 cords of pulpwood yearly.

Mother, Mix Your Own Cough Syrup. It's Fine

Quick, Comforting Relief. Saves Money. Easily Mixed.

This well-known medicine, mixed in your own kitchen, costs little, but it gives delightful, swift-acting relief from coughs due to colds. It takes but a moment to prepare—it's so easy a child could do it. It saves real money.

Make a syrup by stirring 2 cups granulated sugar and 1 cup of water a few moments until dissolved. No cooking is needed. Or you can use corn syrup or liquid honey, instead of sugar syrup.

Then get 2½ ounces of Pinex from any druggist. Pour this into a pint bottle, and add your syrup. Thus you make a full pint of really splendid cough medicine and you get about four times as much for your money. It never spoils, lasts a family a long time and children love its taste.

And for quick, blessed relief, you'll say it is truly wonderful. It has a remarkable action. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes, and helps clear the air passages.

Pinex is a special compound of proven ingredients, in concentrated form, well-known for its prompt action in coughs and bronchial irritation. Money refunded if it doesn't please you in every way.

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN
Of Tired Kidneys

If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need help.

The kidneys are Nature's relief way of taking excess acid and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes show there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

This week she opens at Cafe Lounge of the Savoy-Plaza, a fashionable spot that usually only proffers big names in the way of divertissement.

I guess the motto of this tale is: Don't be discouraged, because every cloud has a silver fox lining.

A Stone's Throw From Broadway: Peter Lorre, wearing flannels and a Hollywoodish tan jacket, was pretty disconsolate when he peered out of the Algonquin lobby and saw swirling snow.

HOLLYWOOD

—By Robbin Coons

OLLYWOOD -- Finale of "When Johnny Come March- Home" is sung by Allan Jones ig preview applause.

t's "The Yanks Are Coming in," that Harry Seymour song tioned here a year ago when ry first wrote it. has taken that long for the hy piece to e the screen, h frequently a n s making grade. Har- lyrics and K. Jerome's ic are team- n a new one, Boy." You'll earing it — as sure of as they are ut how soon dy can say. A lot of people the notion that song- ing, once you're in Hollywood, cinch. The writing may be, the publishing isn't. Songs or- d for a particular spot in a are one thing. Songs written for themselves are a couple thers.

t's no good to send a song by to the publishers," says me. "They're always getting nped with stuff that way and oesn't make any impression. 've got to be shown, and 've got to know a song has over before they'll be inter- I. So all you can do is try to a name band or a name singer ntroduce it for you."

Coons

"And hope it goes" puts in Seymour. "You never can tell."

IF MUSIC publishers have to be shown, there's plenty of current evidence that the movie companies are equally skeptical.

The evidence is in the plethora of nostalgic musicals now on the stages or already screening. We have Alice Faye, one of the best song-pluggers around, putting over songs that were plugged to success in Grandma's day. In "Hello, Frisco, Hello," (the one about the musical boy and girl who love, quarrel, part, and make up in the finale, that one again,) there are 14 or 15 old-time songs and just one new tune, "You'll Never Know." Among the sure-fire hits, time-tested, are "Bedelia," "Bird In a Gilded Cage," "Strike Up the Band," "Anybody Here Seen Kelly?" and "Pony Boy."

MY GAL SAL" took advantage of the old Paul Dresser songs, and "Coney Island" with Betty Grable is putting forth more old-timers of similar period. Alice Faye goes into another Gay Nineties film after this one, and Betty does "Sweet Rosie O'Grady," while Ann Sheridan's venture into Tony Pastor's time will call for much the same music.

All of this is tough on today's song-writers, though it's mighty nice for us old folks who like it —even when it's surrounded by that one about the musical boy and girl who love, quarrel, part and make up in the finale.

CITES DANGER IN NATION'S TAX LIABILITY

Ruml Tells Congress Present Income Tax Becomes Form of 'Peonage.'

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON -- Beardsley Ruml, chairman of the New York federal reserve board, today told congress that tax liabilities have now become "a national danger," declared that "there is no escaping the conclusion that the 1942 income tax must be either dropped or deferred," and proposed that the nation be put on a pay-as-you-go and collect-at-the-source basis by April 1.

Testifying before the house ways and means committee which is considering a new tax policy program, Ruml, seeking to meet treasury department criticism of his plan to forgive all 1942 income taxes, denied the charge that it would be an inflationary step. He argued on the contrary that it would be a financial gain for the government.

At the same time, he proposed to meet another criticism of his program, by providing for the imposition of a "windfall" safeguard to take care of cases where an individual's income showed a great increase in 1942 over the previous year.

Discussing the steep increases voted in the 1942 revenue act which are to be paid this year, Ruml said:

"The consequence of these increased rates is that the debt which people owe to the federal government for tax on their last year's income has become a national danger. Under our present system this debt will have to be paid whether next year they have any income or not.

'Income tax debt has become a modern form of peonage that locks men and women into their present work and level of income. They cannot afford to lose their jobs, to become sick or to retire.

"The American citizen distinctly does not like to have a large debt, particularly a large tax debt, hanging over him. All these considerations force the placing of income taxes on a current basis and at once.

To the treasury's contention that the government would lose $10,000,000,000 in assets, Ruml replied: "I contend that the financial well being of the government would be improved since the revenues of the government would be larger under the pay-as-you-go plan than at present and this without increase of taxes on this account on any taxpayer, now or in the future."

ILLNESS FATAL

Mt. Gilead Man, 84, Succumbs, Rites Set For Saturday.

MT. GILEAD — Byron Henry Shoup, 84, died at 9 a. m. today in Galion City hospital after a lingering illness. He entered the hospital Jan. 13.

JAP RESIGNS

Says He's Loyal as He Quits Hawaiian Legislature.

HONOLULU —(INS)— For the first time since 1931 the Hawaiian legislature today had no Japanese representatives. Sanji Abi, sole Japanese member, has submitted his resignation to Gov. Ingram Stainback.

The resignation was sent from an army detention station where Abi has been held since last September. Abi declared that he was a loyal American citizen and was resigning to prevent "unjust outside attacks on the legislature and the people of the territory."

GIVES TALK TO CLASS OF GRADS

Kalbfleisch To Be Speaker as More Nurses' Aides Complete Course.

Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch, coordinator of Mansfield civilian defense, will be the speaker at graduation exercises for a new class of 18 Nurses' Aides at the Nurses' home, Monday, Feb. 15 at 8 p. m.

Miss Miriam Hooper, new executive secretary of Richland county chapter of the Red Cross, will share the speaker's program with Judge Kalbfleisch. Dr. A. D. Fonkalsrud, superintendent at Mansfield General hospital will give the invocation.

The class which recently completed an 80-hour course of training at General hospital is now eligible to begin volunteer service at that institution. The requirements call for 150 hours of volunteer service a year.

Another Nurses' Aide class is scheduled to start, Feb. 15, and physical examination blanks went out to 18 applicants today. Eighteen persons out of a group of 31 were selected for the training, according to Mrs. George L. Draffan, chairman of the Nurses' Aide committee.

OHIO PASTORS END SESSIONS

Hear Missionary Say Driving Force of Age is Selfishness.

COLUMBUS —(U.P.)— The 24th annual Ohio Pastors' convention which has endorsed bills against quick marriages and the sale of liquor and beer by the drink during its three-day meeting ends today.

Dr. E. Stanley Jones, Methodist missionary, told approximately 2,000 persons last night that the "driving force of our age has been selfishness and individualism" which has caused the "totalitarianism of today to arise from the individualisms of today."

Governor Bricker and Dr. Carl H. Hambro, Norgegian-born president of the League of Nations assembly, also addressed the clergymen.

SHERWOOD ENDORSES MEASURE TO PAROLE MURDER 'LIFERS'

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS—A revision of the laws proposed "to kindle a spark of hope in the forgotten man" today bore the endorsement of Welfare Director Charles L. Sherwood and heads of three state penal institutions.

The legislation, introduced by Sen. P. H. Rogers (R-Lorain) would authorize a parole hearing for prisoners serving life imprisonment for first degree murder. They now are not eligible for parole.

Director Sherwood and his colleagues, appearing before the senate judiciary committee last night, took the position that a hope of liberty would stimulate good behavior, raise morale and help rehabilitate the first-degree lifers.

A person serving life imprisonment for crimes other than first degree murder or treason is eligible for parole after 10 years.

Concurring with Sherwood in espousal of the bill were Warden Frank D. Henderson of Ohio Penitentiary, Supt. W. F. Amrine of the London prison farm, Supt. Marguerite Reilly of the Women's reformatory, and Father David Powers, Catholic chaplain at the prison farm.

The penitentiary has 311 first-degree lifers, the prison farm 95 and the Women's reformatory nine.

Under Rogers' proposal they would be eligible for a parole hearing after 20 years' imprisonment, less time off for good behavior. If their conduct was good, they would come before the pardon and parole commission after actually serving 12 years and 8 months.

Father Powers remarked that if the legislature failed to pass the Rogers bill, it should send a stonecutter to erase this inscription over the entrance to the prison farm:

"He who enters here leaves not hope behind."

The committee deferred action pending another hearing.

GETS $50 FINE

Shiloh Motorist in Court on Drunk Driving Charge.

Corbett Oney, Shiloh, was fined $50 and costs and had his driver's licenses revoked for one year by Municipal Judge H. H. Schettler today on a charge of driving while intoxicated in Mansfield yesterday.

He was arrested on South Main street after being pursued by Patrolman William Taylor from the intersection of Park avenue west and Bowman street. He drove on the left side of the street all the way, according to Taylor.

Oney's brother, John B. Oney, also of Shiloh, an occupant in the car, was fined $5 and costs for intoxication.

A second traffic fine of $10 and costs was meted out to Joseph J. Siwek, Jefferson avenue, who was charged with speeding at 45 miles an hour on North Main street.

HELD AS SPY

Patterson Field Employe Charged With Copying Technical Data.

SPRINGFIELD — (U.P.) — Frank A. Briske, 34, Patterson field employe, was held in Miami county jail at Troy today for hearing Feb. 18 on a charge of espionage.

Briske pleaded innocent yesterday at arraignment before U. S. Commissioner George C. Collins. He was held under $1,000 bond. He was charged with copying a technical order book and an engineering repair manual at Patterson field, Dayton.

DROPS INDICTMENT

COLUMBUS—(AP)—Informed by Fort Hayes officers that a court martial had sentenced Floyd E. Price, 32, of Derby, O., to 18 years in federal prison for desertion, Prosecutor Ralph J. Bartlett announced dropping of a forgery indictment against Price.

Nine members of Senior Girl Scout troop 3, like the Marines, had the situation "well in hand," Tuesday, when they purchased, prepared and served a three-course dinner to 14 persons at the home of their leader, Mrs. M. W. Stretch, 187 Poplar street. Unaware of plans for the dinner until they arrived at the meeting, the girls, according to their leader, served a delicious dinner at the small cost of 14 cents per person.

Mansfield Girl Scouts of troop 15 are of the opinion they hold some kind of a record when it comes to making 100 hospital favors in short order. The girls, members of Mrs. Henry Paulson's troop at Woodville school, turned out their quota in exactly an hour and a quarter and put considerable work on them at that. The favors, significant of Washington's birthday, were nut cups attached to a little piece of real cherry wood and they will be presented to Richland county chapter of the Red Cross for distribution to one of the county institutions.

The weather in Virginia is going to be warm enough that winter coats won't be needed for the next week — at least that's what two Canadian soldiers are counting on. Arriving last night from Camp Borden, Ontario, Can., Pvts. C. G. Chapman and F. Boome stopped at the USO headquarters to find lodging. Cheered by the spring-like weather in Mansfield and hopes for sunshine farther southeast, Chapman left his overcoat in the USO room this morning. They are going to "thumb" to Virginia to spend their furlough with Chapman's aunt and intend picking up their belongings on the return trip.

BARMEN CALLED

Will Seek Solution to Ohio's Critical Liquor Shortage.

COLUMBUS —(INS)— A special meeting of the Buckeye Retail Liquor Dealers' association was called today for next Monday by Norman C. Parr, executive secretary, in the hope of finding a solution to the state's critical liquor shortage.

Parr said he did not know what solution the tavern keepers would propose, but he expressed the belief that they would be able to suggest some means of relief.

So scarce is the supply of domestic liquor, he said, that in some cities taverns have been forced to suspend sales one or even two days a week.

Parr called the conference after he and Russell Smith, of Defiance, president of the dealers' group, conferred with acting state Liquor Director Don Fisher.

HE HAS REASON TO BE PEEVED

Magistrate Crawled Out of Bed To Take "Cussing"—Collect.

ROCKGORD, Ill.—(INS)—Magistrate Alf Ahlstrand was burning up today.

He reported that the telephone rang and rang about 4 o'clock in the morning, finally getting him out of bed. The call was long distance from a southern Illinois city. Believing it must be important, the magistrate agreed to accept the call collect.

From then on for several minutes, he was forced to listen to a picturesquely worded tirade against his own court, against the police department, and against the whole city of Rockford—all at his own expense. It must have been somebody he had sent to jail, the magistrate thought.

STRIKES PRISON

Fire Damages New Wing of Naval Building.

PORTSMOUTH, N. H.— (AP) — A fire yesterday damaged a new five-story wing under construction at the Portsmouth naval prison, but was prevented by navy and marine fire fighters from spreading into occupied sections of the prison.

Cause of the fire and amount of damage were not announced.

COLUMBUS—(U.P.)—Mrs. Robert S. Beightler, wife of Maj. Gen. Robert S. Beightler, commanding officer of the 37th division now in the South Pacific, has been placed in charge of stenographers in the house of representatives.

CRY GROWING FOR RELEASE OF FARMERS

Demands Also Heard to Modify WMC Rule on Non-Deferables; Super War Board Sought.

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON—The senate divided itself into two camps today in a controversy over jurisdiction of investigations into the vital manpower problem as demands arose in congress for the release of nearly 1,000,000 farm workers and for legislation to modify the war manpower commission's "work or fight" order for married men in "non-deferrable" industries.

When the upper chamber convened it was faced with disposition of a bill designed to create an office of war mobilization, with the military affairs and labor committees each clamoring for the "go" sign to take charge of all legislation affecting manpower.

The war mobilization bill, sponsored by Sen. Kilgore (D) W. Va., would create a super war board which would combine all phases of the war effort, both military and civilian.

The senate turned to the mobilization measure after Sen. Bankhead (D) Ala., declared that America will be "on the brink of starvation" if the armed force is increased to 11,000,000 men. Bankhead, chairman of a senate appropriations subcommittee which is also looking into the manpower situation, demanded that the nearly 1,000,000 farm workers now under arms be released so they can return to agriculture and alleviate the acute situation.

Other congressional leaders said they had been informed that the administration's 1943 goal for the armed service calls for about 11,000,000 officers and enlisted men in the army, navy, marine corps and coast guard, with the army to have 700,000 officers and 7,500,000 enlisted men.

Rep. Kilday (D) Tex., a member of the military affairs committee took the floor of the house, meanwhile, to demand speedy passage of his bill to prevent induction of married men until single men on a statewide basis no longer are available for the colors.

Willard, Storage Battery Inventor And Explorer, Dies

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal.—(INS)—Funeral services will be held tomorrow for Theodore A. Willard, 80, inventor of the storage battery bearing his name, multi-millionaire explorer and an author on Mayan archeology. Willard died Wednesday following a three-month illness.

Fabulously wealthy from some 65 patients he held on his battery and other devices, Willard had made 18 different journeys to Yucatan in his hobby of exploring. His last trip into the mysterious jungles was made just two years ago.

His many books and writings included "The City of the Sacred Well," "Bride of the Rain God," and "Wizard of Zazma"—based on his own experiences.

He was known also as a brilliant artist, archeologist and motion picture photographer.

Willard, who "came up the hard way," was a mechanical engineer in Cleveland, Ohio, coming to California 15 years ago. He was born and educated at Castle Rock, Minn.
